State OK's Multilevel BART Parking Site

The State Division of Highways has approved a proposal by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to construct a $2.8 million multi-level parking facility at the rapid transit station in Daly City.

Two other similar requests — for Walnut Creek station and the MacArthur Station in Oakland — were turned down, it was learned.

The Daly City garage will be funded by an elaborate shuffling of funds from one classification to another in order to qualify them for federal funding.

City Manater David Rowe said earlier TOPICS funds, used for projects connected with streets, will be used instead of gasoline tax funds as matching monies to construct the two deck garage.

The Federal Department of Transportation (DOT) has agreed to fund some 90 per cent of the project, with the remainder coming from local Daly City funds.

Rowe said there was nothing illegal about the transfer of funds from one category to another in such cases. He said TOPICS funds are available and the city had used up its gas tax money on the Knowles Avenue Improvement Project between Junipero Serra Boulevard and Mission Street.

Last year the Associationof Bay Area Governments (ABAG) gave the Daly City garage a first priority for construction.

The Daly City garage has been an on again, off again matter.

Some two years ago when the matter was first brought up it was submitted for approval under a federal parking demonstration act. Before action could be taken by DOT, the act was rescinded and, later, the 1970 Federal Highway Act was passed.

The application was held up on the state level on resubmission because enacting legislation was pending. Meanwhile, BART committed its funds to build the BART station.

Under current laws retroactive matching funds cannot be used and BART began talks with Daly City.

Along with several other agencies BART and Daly City got together on coming up with the needed matching money from TOPICS funds via gasoline tax funds.

Welfare for S.S.F. Mother Likely, 'If'...

The South San Francisco mother of three children with a rare brain disease has been promised she can get back on the county welfare rolls as soon as she gets rid of $700 worth of "excess personal property," she has been told.

Mrs. Jacqueline Collum, 34, whose three surviving children have the incurable Batten's Disease, was notified this week she would be cut off from her $180 in payments as of March 31 because he has $1,344 in the bank. The permissible limit under county welfare regulations is $600 in assets.

Mrs. Collum, a divorcee, already has lost one child, 13-year-old Patti, to Batten's Disease last year. This ailment causes blindness and weakening and ultinmately death, usually by age 21.

Kathleen, 12, and Charles, 7, are already blind and Crystal, 7, is losing her sight.

Mrs. Collum's story was publicized last year and some $24,000 in gifts poured in from all over the world. Most of this has been put into a medical and educational trust fund for the children. The other $1,344 is being spent at the rate of over $100 a month for vitamins and child care, Mrs. Collum said.

She also would lose her food stamps, for which she pays $80 a month for $106 worth, and a rent subsidy on her home at 13 Bradford Drive.

Robert Rippeto, director of the county Department of Social Services, said yesterday his office was doing all it could to help keep her payments coming but under present welfare regulations "we have no choice."

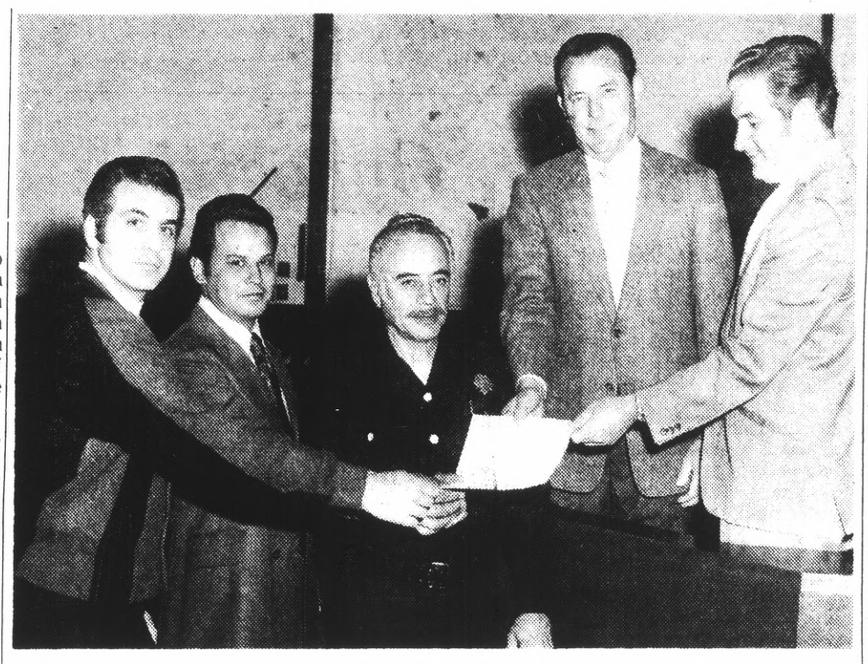
Mrs. Collum said she would reapply in the next 15 days for the county aid. Her household budget, including part-time housekeeping, travel, child care and vitamins, is just over $400 a month, she said.

Rippeto said also that the county has provided legal aid for Mrs. Collum so she could maintain the trust fund and keep her county support.

County Supervisor Jean Fassler said yesterday she would look into the possibilities before next Tuesday's supervisors meeting of investigating this ruling by the Department of Social Services.

Mrs. Fassler said her investigation would be aimed at determining whether or not welfare laws are being applied too strictly in Mrs. Collum's case.

"Let's take another look at it. We should be certain we're doing the right thing. After all, when children are dying and a mother is watching them die, how blind must be justice?", Mrs. Fassler asked.



FIREMEN HONORED — The Daly City Council last week honored three firemen for efforts on behalf of the Bombero (Mexican firemen) program held in February. The council unanimously passed a resolution commending the trio who acted as interpreters during program. (Left to right) firemen John Poulus, Felix Valdez and Charles Rivera. Handing men the commendation are councilmen McRobert Stewart and Tony Giammona.

Firemen's Rapport

Three years ago Daly City waded through reams of government red tape in its efforts to donate an outdated 1941 Mack pumper truck to the Mexican town of Madera.

Eventually, after complying with government regulations concerning motor vehicles from both sides of the border, the truck was handed over in colorful ceremonies.

In the years since, the pumper has contributed much towards saving the town (population 60,000) from crippling destruction from several large fires.

Madera's main problem in battling fires is its constant shortage of water. A recent letter from Madera authorities to Daly City acting-Fire Chief Keith Schrock again told how the truck proved its worth by helping extinguish a blaze that threatened a large section of the city.

Such rapport between Mexican and U.S. firefighters has been evidenced for many years.

Not only has San Mateo County donated valuable equipment to cities south of the border, but there is now an increasingly popular fire personnel exchange program underway.

They call it the "Bombero" program.

Recently, 110 Bomberos (Mexican firemen) were brought to the county to participate in a week-long training program sponsored by the Peninsula Fire Chief's Association, from February 13 to February 18.

The Bomberos were distributed to various cities up and down the county, with Daly City hosting seven of the Mexican firefighters — three from the city of Culiacan, state of Sinaloa, and four from the city of Benjamin Hill, state of Sonora.

During the training period three Daly City firefighters, Charles Rivera, Felix Valdez and John Poulos, acted as interpreters and hosts for the visitors.

S.S.F. Awaits U.S. Action on Flood Control Projects

What happens Thursday in the nation's capital will have repercussions for the South San Francisco Streams Project.

According to City Manager Gale Dreisbach, recently returned from Washington, D.C., that's what the Colma Creek Flood Control Project is called by Washington officials.

On Thursday Congressman Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey will be pleading for $55,000 in additional funds to complete a flood control study of Colma Creek before the public works subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee.

The Army Corps of Engineers has said that $90,000 is needed to complete a study of the proposed $17 million flood control project before it can be implemented.

However, there was only $5,000 of a requested $60,000 that was appropriated for this year for this purpose. McCloskey hopefully will convince the subcommittee of the need for another $55,000 this year, and then next year a request for $30,000 more will be made.

In addition to lobbying for these funds while in Washington, Driesbach said he received word that phase II of the city's Westborough Park was approved through Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Dreisbach said he also discussed Phase III of the project with HUD officials, and indicated he may try for additional monies (which would be matched by the city) to build facilities "esthetically pleasing" with the homes in the area.

Another matter pursued by Dreisbach with federal officials was the possibility of obtaining a HUD grant, which is admittedly of low priority, to renovate the auditorium at the Magnolia Recreation Center.

Dreisbach emphasized that this would only be done if it would be feasible costwise and if there is agreement among South San Francisco officials that such restoration is desired.

The city manager said he also got "approved in concept" the possibility of using 50-50 Neighborhood Facility Grant funds to construct a combination teen-center, senior citizen center and administration offices for the park and recreation department at Orange Memorial Park.

Dreisbach said the project could be supplemented with another possible grant from the Joslyn Center Foundation, which makes a maximum of $75,000 available for senior citizen projects.

These projects, although discussed at various times at both the parks and recreation and city council levels, are not approved projects. And no applications for funding have been submitted.

But Dreisbach used the opportunity to open financial doors while talking to the director of publicity and financial support with HUD should city officials make a final determination on which way to proceed.

Councilmen already have approved a financial feasibility study of Magnolia Center requested by parks and recreation commissioners.

S.S.F. Stages A 30-Minute Council Meet

Monday night's South San Francisco city council meeting was like driving through a small Midwestern town; if you blinked you missed it.

The meeting lasted 30 minutes, as councilmen whipped through an agenda that consisted mostly of proclamations and resolutions.

Approval was held up on a series of resolutions concerning establishment of an assessment district for acquisition and improvements of Antoinette Lane.

A letter of protest was submitted by Broadway Investment Company of Burlingame, owners of more than 50 per cent of the property involved. The firm said it wanted a re-evaluation of the assessment district.

Councilmen also:

Approved a grading permit application to clean debris and rough grade the WMC Development Company site at Forbes Boulevard and Allerton Avenue.

Authorized Director of Public Works to prepare, execute and file applications for state and federal grants on the city's Phase I Waste Water Management Program.

Okayed an exchange of common greens in Westborough-West Park between the city and the Braewood Development Corporation.

Volunteers Would Convert D.C. Court Into Free Clinic

A small army of volunteers is standing by in Daly City armed with paint brushes and hammers.

They are ready and willing to attack the Old Daly City Courthouse at 75 Wellington Avenue and convert it into a free clinic.

But the Daly City city council must first give its blessings to the move.

And past discussions on the matter of turning the city-owned building into a clinic have always been on the negative side.

The city fathers have indicated on several occasions that the facility will one day be used as a public library.

Last week, the clinic's directors voted unanimously to ask the city for use of the structure in the wake of moving the court of Judge Charles Becker to South San Francisco.

Miss Shelley Hernandez, chairman of the Guadalupe Health Clinic's Board of Directors, said the clinic could assume a bigger work load if the request to use the building for a clinic were granted.

The clinic directors also asked the Board of Supervisors and Health and Welfare chief, Dr. George Pickett, for support in the venture.

Currently the clinic is set up at 6705 Mission Street. The quarters are extremely cramped and people are jamming the small waiting room and offices.

Although the move would triple the size of the clinic's operation, it would not provide answers to such obstacles confronting the clinic as future funding of the project.

Earlier this month the Board of Supervisors breathed new life into the clinic when they granted a few thousand dollars to the program — enough to carry the clinic until pending federal grant requests are acted upon.

If the grants are turned down and local source of monies are dried up, the clinic's life expectancy will be short-lived, officials predict.

Meanwhile, city officials, including Mayor Bernard Lycett, have voiced some enthusiasm for the clinic but have thus far not committed the city to turn over the two storied building to the clinic.

Miss Hernandez said the clinic would be able to consolidate several community projects now scattered around the city if they got the building, including the senior citizens program comprised of Spanish-speaking persons between 65 and 90 years old. Such meetings are now held at the War Memorial Building on Mission Street.

Larger quarters would also enable clinic directors to locate the mental health care center and similar "subsidiary activites" under one roof, Miss Hernandez said.

A New Aide Working for Free at S.S.F.

South San Francisco has a unique new administrative aide — he's working free for the first year.

Henry A. Otto, 43, a former Oakland police officer, began work last week, filiing a position that was authorized in last year's budget.

Otto was forced to retire from the Oakland police department because he injured his hand. The knuckle was broken according to City Manager Gale Dreisbach.

Because of this injury, Otto was forced to retire from the police department and is receiving (at least temporarily) disability, which prevents him from earning a salary.

Dreisbach said Otto would work this year for nothing. And assuming he does a good job and the disability money he is receiving is eliminated, Otto will be put on a regular salary at City Hall after a year.

Otto is an 18-year veteran of the Oakland Police Department, where he was doing administrative work for the deputy police chief.

Dreisbach said Otto's duties in South San Francisco will be as ombudsman, public relations man, complaint officer and editor of a monthly newsletter to the residents.

Appraisers Authorized

Retention of appraisal experts on an "as needed" basis to evaluate the latest park and open space proposal for San Bruno Mountain was authorized last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

Appraisers whose services may be used at the rate of $150 a day are Floyd Clevenger of Santa Clara, Charles Vogel of Woodside and Jack Kidder of Palo Alto. Maximum fees of $750 were set for Clevenger, $1,500 for Vogel and $4,500 for Kidder.

San Bruno Trustees Receive Proposed Layout of Rooms

Trustees of the San Bruno Park School District Monday night received a series of proposed site plans and layouts for construction of gymnasiums and music rooms at Engvall and Parkside Intermediate schools.

Architect John Worsely estimated the cost of the projects at $620,000 if they each included two auxiliary rooms — to be used for gymnastics and dancing — and $575,000 if they each held one auxiliary room apiece.

The trustees are expected to try to make a decision by next month's school board meeting as to whether they plan to go ahead with the project, or not. If they choose not to, they have agreed to pay Worsely for the work that he has done so far.

The funds for the work would come from the district's capital improvement fund, which was accumulated from the insurance payment for the old North Brae auditorium and its valuable audio-visual equipment, and sale of various parcels of school sites to the Division of Highways, for construction of Freeway Route 380.

Worsely presented eight drawings showing different arrangements of the two proposed projects, as well as a series of slides in which he showed the various site possibilities.

According to the proposed projects, both Parkside and Engvall would each receive additions consisting of: One gym apiece, locker rooms, handball-tennis practice rooms, band room, choral rooc, music practice rooms, and offices for each facility.

The gyms would each have provision for 600-seat bleachers but these must be purchased separately.

Administrative Assistant Bob Barron estimated that it would cost $147,800 to cut down the jet noise in the 20-room Belle Air School, located just across Bayshore from the main runway. He estimated: Air conditioning, $56,000; replace windows with solid wall, $33,000; increase lighting $30,000 (some of this would be spent anyway); carpeting, $22,000 and fix up doors, $5,500.

For further sound-proofing, the roof would be remodeled with special vents.

Trustee Leonard Sarken noted that, according to a report from Councilman Tom Governale, the new Airport Land Use committee is working on plans to change further the runway patterns, so as to cut down jet noise.

City Manager Unhappy Over Ruling

Daly City city manager David Rowe isn't happy over a recent ruling made by the city's Personnel Board concerning the "temporary assignment" of employee Mrs. Sylvia Friedman.

And he isn't overjoyed with representatives of the Municipal Employees Union connected with the matter, namely business manager Frank Gillis.

Mrs. Friedman is employed by the city as a Billing Machine Operator. However, in June 1971, city manager Rowe ordered her assignment on a temporary basis as an Accounting Machine Operator — a high classification. There is no budget or authorization for this post and Rule Ten, Section Six of the city rules states a temporary post can only be held for six months by an emplovee.

Monday at a study session of the city council Rowe said he was "very much upset" by disruptions caused by both Mrs.

Annual Egg Hunt

The Daly City Recreation Department will sponsor the annual Easter Egg hunts on April 1. The hunts will be designed for boys and girls who are toddlers through the fourth grade.

Hunts will be conducted at the following locations: Midway School, Skyline School, Colma School, Westlake Park, Marchbanks Park, Westmoor High School, F. D. Roosevelt School, and George Washington School.

Children should attend the hunt closest to their home. Each participant should bring a basket or sack for collecting eggs.

Each hunt will be divided into four age groups; two years and younger, 3-4 years, 5-6 years, and 7-9 years. Toddlers must be accompanied by a parent.

Prize baskets will be presented to children finding specially marked items.

Should it rain, all hunts will be cancelled, and eggs will be distributed at local playgrounds April 3 at 4 p.m.

Volunteer adult help is needed. Interested adults should call the Daly City Recreation Department (992-5356) prior to March 29.

An Attempted Rape in D.C.

A young Daly City woman was cut on the hand Monday night as she fought off a would-be rapist on a footbath in the exclusive Westlake district of the city.

The attack came about 6:15 p.m. as the 22-year-old woman walked along a path near Wilshire Court on her way home.

She told police the man, armed with a knife took her purse and then ordered her to disrobe. Instead of obeying, the woman struggled with her attacker and started screaming for help.

Bruno School Costs

Regardless of price boards, it looked as if in one area, in San Bruno, prices are going up again. The first draft of the 1972-73 budget of the San Bruno Park School District, presented by Administrative Assistant Bob Barron showed a budget that—if adopted — would take school expenditures over the $6 million mark for the first time.

It was a budget with no provision for wage increases, nor any estimate of a major proposed project, wiring the district's 200 classrooms for cable-television. The San Bruno Municipal CATV would supply the connection free, to each school building.

On the other hand, school trustees have not had any opportunity to do any cutting on the budget, which was a collection of proposed expenditures by the district's principals and other administrators.

The total proposal comes to $6,197,906, compared to $5,951,875 for the 1971-72 budget. This, in spite of the fact that there will be two fewer teachers, down to 213½, and that a number of budget items are proposed for cutting.

Many price hikes are the same ones affecting individuals—an estimated increase for Kaiser and Blue Cross raising the health insurance nearly $80,000 to $117,680, and increases in the PG&E bill.

The State Teachers Retirement System payment will go up from $59,864 to $112,040 because of a change in the law. Another major increase is that of the annual repayment for school building loans by $61,000 more to a total of $254,000, because of the district's increase in assessed valuation.

A large number of building improvements is being requested, some of which add up to considerable cost.

These items include new lighting for Allen School, for a $22,000 cost; extending the teachers lunch and workroom at a $10,000 cost, new drapes in Allen and Belle Air for $1000 per school; remodeling Belle Air lavatories, $3000; resurfacing blacktop at Belle Air, El Crystal, and Parkside, plus some landscaping, for $5000; new playground equipment at four elementary schools, bleachers at the intermediate schools, more media centers, a mobile test van which could be moved from school to school, various carpeting projects throughout the district.

Barron also proposed starting an annual furniture replacement fund. The curriculum department has asked for $7000 for new curriculum materials to be distributed among the schools.

The budget has, as yet, no tax-rate, although the district is expected to be able to afford more. The income, as usual, is still up in the air, as education bills are introduced daily.

However, the Board and staff now have something to work with in planning next year's spending.

Proposal Encounters Stiff Opposition

By Frank LaPierre

An increasing number of Daly City parents are voicing concern over a proposed demographic study to be carried out in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Supt. Frank L. Greenwood has said there is no cause for concern over the study, that it is merely a list of ten "routine" questions designed to provide his offices with updated data on the ethnic background of occupants of a home, whether these occupants rent or own the home, and how many bedrooms in a home or apartment unit.

But some persons have painted the study as a sinister attempt to index and file them away for future use for "whatever evil purpose."

Greenwood discounts such criticism and insists that information gathered will be used to figure out the racial balance of the district; various school needs; whether busing would improve any racial imbalance, and, future facility needs of the JESD.

Even the school board is split on whether the survey should be conducted.

Tuesday, during a regular board meeting, the issue was again brought up following a meeting between Greenwood and the P-TA Council on enlisting the aid of volunteers to carry out the study.

It was anticipated that if the district used unpaid volunteers it would save the taxpayer some $20,000. But a spokesman for the P-TA Council made it clear Tuesday night that it would be impossible to get parents to conduct the survey — paid or unpaid.

Greenwood said he would approach college students in the area to see if they would be available for the survey.

Mrs. Riva Krips, an outspoken critic of Greenwood, said she was "uneasy" about the study and asked why the recent (1970) city census figures and data could not be used.

When she started to harangue Greenwood, the superintendent walked out of the room followed by Trustee Edward Tomasello.

Both men explained they had no desire to listen to Mrs. Krips' "character assassination" of Greenwood.

Mrs. Dorothy Adams, a supporter of the study, informed the audience that while she did not necessarily agree with Mrs. Krips' comments concerning Greenwood, it was the district attorney's opinion that a person once allowed the floor could not have their talk restricted.

Mrs. Krips accused the district of "spending dollars looking through keyholes."

She soundly thumped the survey and Greenwood's attempt to push it through.

Trustee Mrs. Beverly Forrester joined in the brief applause at the end of Mrs. Krips' condemnation of the survey, noting later she was not in favor of the demographic survey.

On the other hand, Trustee (Mrs.) Adams said the survey served a purpose "near and dear to my heart." That is the shifting of the seventh and eighth grade classes from Fernando Rivera to a new location in the southern section of the city, she explained.

She has hesitated in any transfers of students until she can see the results of the demographic study, Mrs. Adams said.

Major Busing Issues Brought Home

By BOB PETERSON

The nation's number one domestic political issue — school busing — was brought home to San Mateo County last week.

Three points of view were offered at a special meeting of Avalon Concerned Taxpayers (ACT), a South San Francisco incorporated civic league.

Guest speaker Dr. Paul Neilsen, superintendent of the South San Francisco Unified School District said there is no present plan for establishing a tri-county busing system involving San Mateo, San Francisco and Marin counties.

The second scheduled speaker, Mrs. Violet Gotelli, statewide chairman of the Neighborhood School Initiative, an effort to repeal Assembly Bill 724 which opponents say is designed to implement massive integration by busing, disagreed.

She said that San Francisco's present integration-through busing efforts cannot be compiete without eventually involving San Mateo and Marin Counties.

According to her, Assembly Bill 724 (commonly called the Bagley Bill after its author Assemblyman William Bagley of San Rafael) is the instrument that will force the busing.

Apparently motivated by the obvious anti-busing stance of the audience, a 29-year-old special research fellow at the University of California Medical Center suggested a positive look be taken on the issue of busing.

Robert Decker, who holds a Ph. D. in biology and is doing research on the nervous system, said, "The only way we will begin to understand one another is to have contact.

"We are badly segregated now. Are we going to remain segregated? We may by law eventually be forced to live in areas where we don't want to live.

"To completely say no to busing is wrong," said Decker, who has a daughter attending South San Francisco's Spruce School.

"We're getting a very traumatic introduction to busing," he said, citing Pontiac, Mich., and Richmond, Va. "Ghetto kids don't get a good education. All I've heard is what's good for my kid, without much thought for anyone else's kids."

Finally Lois Barnes, president of ACT, gaveled Decker down, saying, "I did ask for a question."

Rebuttal to Decker was allowed, however. It came from Mrs. Rochelle Alexander. She said the solution ot the ghetto education problem is to use the money that is being spent on busing to build new educational facilities in the ghetto.

"Your children should not be used as ping-pong balls," she said to a loud applause.

In his presentation, Neilsen said his school district has been busing its students for years, and has maintained racial balance long before the Bagley Bill became law.

Asked his personal opinion on the Bagley Bill, Neilsen said, "It's not a bill. It's a law. And I'm for the law of this state."

Neilsen said, "No one has told me they know of any plan to bus from the city of San Francisco to this county, or Marin County. I have not seen or heard of such a plan."

The superintendent pointed out that the South San Francisco Unified School Board trustees last August sent a letter to Ples Griffin, chief of the bureau of intergroup relations in the state educaton department, that they wanted no part of the San Francisco desegregation effort.

"This (SSFUSD) board has not taken any stand supporting any busing program in terms of race," said Neilsen. "If the law changes, that's something else."

Mrs. Gotelli said that although the Bagley Bill doesn't mention the word "busing" there is no way to provide racial balance, as required by the Bagley Bill, without it.

"I don't think you're sale diately taken into custody.

(from busing) in South San Francisco. Don't think what happens in San Francisco doesn't affect you," she warned. "Busing in San Francisco won't be a success unless all of San Mateo County is involved."

Mrs. Gotelli, who is involved with freedom schools in San Francisco and has a child "in a little Christian school in Pacifica," said, "there is a plan for integration of the junior high schools in San Francisco and the overflow is to come into San Mateo County."

The effort is being sponsored by Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield. The opponents to busing are shooting for 530,000 names.

More About City Manager

Friedman and Gillis at City Hall in recent weeks.

Gillis charged the city was working Mrs. Friedman out of her classification on temporary assignment in violation of existing rules and regulations.

He argued the case in front of the Personnel Board which eventually ruled in favor of the appellant and passed it on to the council for final action.

But Rowe asked the council to overrule the Board's findings, countercharging the City was not given the opportunity to properly present its case.

Rowe said Board Chairman Mel Battye overruled his (Rowe's) request to question Mrs. Friedman during the hearing.

Gillis said he concurred in the Board's findings on the issue.

But he took the matter a step further — he asked that the "temporary" post of Accounting Machine Operator be filled permanently, that tests be conducted in accordance with civil service rules, and that an eligibility list be made up.

Mrs. Friedman had argued that she was assigned to this post for which there is no budget or authorization since June 1971.

Her "fulltime" assignment is a Billing Machine Operation, some $16 per week less than the post she has held for some nine months.

Gillis explained following the meeting that he felt the post of Accounting Machine Operator was not a temporary job, rather it was a continuing duty that should be filled by appointment.

Deputy Attacked In Jail

An inmate serving a 20-day sentence for auto theft grabbed a nightstick away from a guard at San Francisco County jail in San Bruno Wednesday and began beating him with it, deputies reported today.

The incident was the most serious to date in a series of prisoner unrest that has rocked the jail in recent weeks.

Most incidents have been over what inmates declare is poor food served at the facility.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Himenes was unlocking cells in tier 5-south about 8:15 a.m. when inmate Maurice Bell allegedly grabbed his club and began striking the officer with it.

Some 60 prisoners already released from their cells inside the cell block did not take part in the incident, according to sheriff's captain Bill Davis.

Ten deputies were alerted and stood by to go into the tier to put down any mass disturbance that might be sparked as a result of the incident.

Deputy Sheriff Himenes was able to fend off most of the blows, however he received injuries to his left hand in the process, a jail spokesman said.

Bell has a previous arrest record for assaulting a police officer.

Broadmoor-D.C. Annex OK'd

The death of the Broadmoor Police District was predicted Wednesday as the Local Agency Formation Commission approved annexation of seven acres of Broadmoor property to Daly City.

"There is no way this police district can survive if this annexation goes through," Jack McCloskey, chairman of the district governing board, told the commission.

The proposed annexation, if it goes through, will finally close the ring around Broadmoor and leave it a large island of unincorporated territory completely surrouneed by Daly City. It would also cut Broadmoor off from Colma, which has been receiving police services from the district under contract.

McCloskey, in fighting against the proposal, said the district is barely making it financially as things stand now. The loss of the property, which has an assessed valuation of $216,453, would put the agency on the financial rocks and make it impossible to continue, he told the commission.

"We could not continue to operate the district," the chairman asserted. "The sheriff would have to take it over."

All annexation proposals must be cleared with LAFCO. Its approval of the Daly City annexation means that the city can proceed to schedule public hearings.

The seven acres lies between Washington, Pierce and Edgeworth Streets and includes the rights of way of Junipero Serra Boulevard and freeway.

Last year the County Board of Supervisors endorsed legislation providing for a one-year, 33 per cent tax rate increase for the district on condition that Broadmoor leaders would confer with Daly City officials about annexing the entirety of Broadmoor to the city and merging the district police force with the Daly City police department. Two meetings were held but the talks were called off when Daly City officials said it was obvious that a majority of Broadmoor homeowners were opposed to annexation. B. Sherman Coffman, LAFCO executive officer, who recommended the annexation, declared that the Broadmoor representatives failed to bargain in good faith.

McCloskey asked for a one-year moratorium on annexations to give time to explore the possibility of Broadmoor merging with its other neighbor, Colma. Coffman said Colma does not have the resources to take Broadmoor in.

Ray Garibaldi, a resident of the area to be annexed, said eight of nine owners have signed a petition opposing the move. Coffman acknowledged that the tax rate would go up about 50 cents for the annexed area but said the owners would be getting better police and fire service and might even realize a reduction in fire insurance rates.

William Lawson, acting LAFCO chairman, pointed out to Garibaldi that he will be able to fight the annexation when it comes before the city council. It will be too late then, Garibaldi replied, because four large property owners who favor annexation represent more than half of the assessed valuation.

McCloskey spoke out against "piecemeal" annexation by Daly City. He suggested it would be better for Daly City to "take it all."

Daly City Manager David Rowe denied that there has been a piecemeal annexation policy. Since 1965, he said, there have been only five annexations of Broadmoor territory, two of which were requested by property owners. The total area taken, he added, was about 20 acres.

Should Candidates Be Charged by District?

Whether to charge a candidate for the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees some $40 for use of school facilities has been passed on to the District Attorney's Office.

Some members of the Board contend Candidate James Edwards did in fact use the M. Pauline Brown School on March 6 for a political fund-raising rally.

And because money was involved in the rally it could not be construed as a non-profit venture at the school.

Edwards told the Board Tuesday the intent of the political meeting was not to make money. He said he had no control over what some of his supporters did following the meeting.

The meeting was held last March 6 between 8 and 11 p.m., however, the Board just got around to taking up the matter at its March 14 meeting.

Trustee Edward Tomasello told Edwards, "This is not a personal attack on you."

However, Edwards saw it differently.

He asked that the matter be expedited and noted the matter was a "waste of the Board's time."

Inasmuch as funds were raised, Trustee Mrs. Beverly Forrester felt the charge for use of the school should be made.

The question before the board, board chairwoman Mrs. Dorothy Adams noted, was whether such meetings were a proper use of tax money.

Maintaning that donations were received "wherever I go," Edwards said such campaigns contribute to the welfare of a community.

He said if such was not the thinking of the board on the subject "we are in the wrong ball game" regarding the democratic process of government.

Prisoner Walks Off

The convicted rapist of a Daly City housewife has been reported as having walked away from the work furlough program at San Quentin Friday.

A statewide search is today underway for Raymond R. Duncan, an American Indian, who was charged with kidnapping, auto theft, assault with a deadly weapon, rape and burglary in January 1967.

He was sentenced to serve his term at San Quentin and with less than three months to parole the convict failed to report to his supervisors last Friday.

Duncan was attending a barber training school in Oakland.

With other participants of the furlough program he lived outside the gates of the huge prison in a special unit.

The escapee was serving his fourth term in prison, police said.

Arrested

John Guillory, 31, of San Francisco, was arrested by policeman John Cahill in the Southern Hills section of Daly City Sunday on suspicion of burglary.

Guillory had in his possession a set of burglary tools, police said.

Police said Guillory is suspected of committing two burglaries in the city.

'I Might Have Sold Your Daddy One of These'

'Flimflam Man' Works the Street

By BOB PETERSON

While making a routine identification check Daly City Police Officer Israel Ortiz Thursday turned up a "flimflam" man.

He didn't know it, however, until Police Sgt. John Kolbmann inspected the numerous rings and watches the man was carrying that appeared to be of extreme value and told him he'd pay $35 for the bunch.

"That'd be 30 cents too much," the man reportedly replied. "I got them all for $34.70."

Ortiz needn't feel badly. All that expensive looking jewelry certainly would lead most policemen to think they might have a burglar or grand theft suspect.

In fact the man, who police didn't identify because "the name is not important," has been fooling people while making money with similar type jewelry for the past 30 years.

Sgt. Kolbmann became wise to the "paste job" because he has a jeweler friend who one time alerted Kolbmann on what to look for in fake jewelry.

The "man" was turned over to San Francisco police on a no-bail warrant for drunk driving.

Sgt. Kolbmann said Daly City police could not hold him because they had no victim. He said that when Officer Ortiz stopped him for an identification check at a Mission Street supermarket "apparently trying to sell a cocktail ring" to an elderly lady, the woman left the scene.

According to Kolbmann, the man has been "working" Mission Street, and down the Peninsula on the El Camino, for the past few weeks "bilking people out of thousands of dollars."

"In 30 years, this man has not once been convicted of fraud," said Sgt. Kolbmann. The reason is two-fold. People who are victimized don't report the incident because they are embarrassed and in actuality the "man" never has misrepresented his product. There is no law against a watch maker making watches, regardless of the quality.

"He let's the victim draw his own conclusion," said Sgt. Kolbmann.

Since 1942, when he first began the con game on Market Street selling soldiers and sailors "instant marriage kits" of paste watches, rings and other jewelry, the flimflam man has worked both coasts.

"I might have sold you're daddy one of those (marriage) kits," the man reportedly said to some of the younger Daly City officers.

He purchases re-made watches and rings from a San Francisco costume jewelry wholesale house for about $5 apiece, according to Kolbmann. (This wholesaler apparently also supplies price tags, too.)

The jewelry is electroplated with a thin sheet of gold, and they contain a high sheen. "But they don't have enough gold to fill a tooth," said the Daly City police sergeant. "Within 30 days they fall apart. Then the victim knows he's been had.

"Some watches give the impression of being worth $500," said Sgt. Kolbmann. "Supposedly, diamond studded, the watches also look like brand names," he said.

Sgt. Kolbmann then explained that under close scrutiny the name on watch face is not Hamilton. It is Harnilton. The "rn" read quickly could easily pass for the "m" in Hamilton.

The routine is to stand in front of a bus stop, jewelry store, or other store that deals in jewelry and watches, and wait for the victim. The watch (or piece of jewelry) he holds would also contain a price tag. The implication is that it was purchased at the jewelers. This also upsets the businessmen, according to Kolbmann.

"His usual pitch is that he must catch a bus, or for some reason has to sell cheaply," said Kolbmann. "He doesn't ask a price. He just asks, 'How much will you give me for it' to a passerby.

"The rest works in the mind of the victim," said Sgt. Kolbmann. "He may think the watch is stolen. And it looks good, even if it's only worth $5. The victim will offer whatever he has in his pocket."

Sgt. Kolbmann said the flimflam man gets $20 to $50 "with no problem," and sometimes as much as $100. "He said he hasn't changed his pattern of hustling, other than afew words, for the past 30 years.

"He has stayed within the law, and let the larceny in the victim do all the work," said Sgt. Kolbmann. "Working about an hour a day, he said he averages $50 to $100 — tax free."

Fire Deputy Is Stricken

South San Francisco's Assistant Fire Chief Al Brauns, scheduled to begin his retirement this morning, is a patient in Mt. Zion Hospital, San Francisco.

Brauns was admitted to the hospital Monday with pneumonia, with "possible complications." A hospital spokesman said Brauns is in the hospital's coronary care unit.

Water Work In Millbrae

A temporary "shortage" of water will exist in Millbrae part of today, according to City Engineer Val Padovan.

Due to some work in the San Francisco Water Department's Crystal Springs storage system, Padovan said, there will be a reduced amount of water available to Millbrae.

From 6 a.m. Tuesday, until 6 p.m. Wednesday, Padovan asked that residents refrain from watering lawns or landscaping, so that sufficient water will be available for other uses.

Water department spokesmen said the shutdown will occur while final connections are being made to a new filtration plant.

Judges Named For Scholarship

Five business, professional and civic leaders were today named judges to select zone winners from area high school seniors in Bank of America's 25th annual Achievement Awards competition in San Bruno on Wednesday, March 22.

The decision of these judges will see four of 36 hopefuls go on the regional finals in San Francisco in May and an opportunity to compete with other students for a top award of $1,000 in each of four study fields.

The zone judges will conduct panel discussions with the students about issues significant with the times.

Based on these interviews, scholastic records and extra-curricular activities of the students, the judges will choose the four most well rounded students to advance to the final event.

Judges for the San Bruno zone event are:

Frank B. Blum, San Mateo County Superior Court judge; Leslie S. Davis, executive vice president of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; J. R. Francis, San Bruno automobile dealer; Peter J. Markovich, Daly City real estate and insurance agent, and Mark E. Savage, Pacifica director of finance-treasurer.

Moderator of the zone event will be Philip C. Garlington, president of Skyline College in San Bruno.

Coordinating the zone event is A. M. Race, vice president and manager of Bank of America's San Bruno branch.

First place zone winners are chosen in each of four study fields: fine arts, science and mathematics, vocational arts, and liberal arts.

The four zone winners are each assured of a $250 award at the regional finals, where they will compete for other awards ranging up to the four first place grants of $1,000. Second, third and fourth place zone winners in each of the four fields receive $100, $75 and $50 awards, respectively.

Local seniors participating in the zone event are:

Fine Arts: James Henderson, Oceana; Robert Milam, Crestmoor; Arijs Rakstins, Capuchino; Sheryl Riley, Westmoor; Robert Sack, South San Francisco; Lisa Simons, Terra Nova; Robin Taber, Serramonte; Fernesser Tracey, Jefferson; Janice Wojdula, El Camino.

Highlands P-TA Honors P-TA, Civic Leader

A donation to the California P-TA scholarship fund in the name of the recipient of this year's Honorary Service Award of the Highlands School P-TA seemed fitting at the recent Highlands School P-TA meeting. This award was given to Mrs. Arville Finacom who has been so active for many years both at Highlands School and in the community.

At school she is a past-president of the P-TA and has been an executive board member in many capacities for many years. She is a volunteer worker for the Mentally Gifted Minor Program, a co-ordinator of all the field trip planning and has organized the parent volunteer driver program for school activities.

In the community she has been active for many years in helping with the Cub Scouts and, as a member of the Calvary Lutheran Church was director of the Nursery School program for a number of years and an officer of the Calvary Lutheran Church Women's Group.

At present she is the secretary of the Millbrae Council of P-TAs where she has also been recently nominated as president-elect. For the 17th District P-TA she served as publicity chairman.

On hand to congratulate her on receiving the award were her husband Vernon Finacom, a teacher at City College of San Francisco and their three sons, David, a student at Mills High, Richard a 7th grader at Taylor Intermediate, and Steven a 6th grader at Highlands School. Giving the award was Honorary Life Membership chairman Mrs. Fred Seger.

New Westmoor Class To Curb Rule-Breakers

A helpful new class has begun at Westmoor High School, with the purpose of keeping the rule-breakers in place.

Law enforcement was started this year by George Chrestionson and has proven to be very helpful in almost completely stopping vandelism in the parking lot, which was a great problem last year, according to Pablo Perez, assistant principal.

Students enrolled in law enforcement, patrol the school grounds to prevent trouble. Tickets are issued for rules that have been broken, and a court system has been set up to try the cases.

Two chances are given to an offender and depending on the severity of the offense, he is either given a citation or warning. Then, in most cases, on the third time he goes to court.

This class is required to meet two days a week after school where written work and lectures are given.

Recognizing a Balanced Offense

Football recognizes the balanced offense as the way to win the games. Intelligent politicians look to the balanced campaign as the surest way to victory. The man who wants to win combines professional staff, good public relations work, money, strtng issue positions, well structured precinct work and a volunteer army.

He must also blend people. He must capture the ardent enthusiasm of the few who love him a lot with the votes of the many who only like him a little (or not at all but better than the other guy). The absence of either can spell defeat. Thus, Barry Goldwater played so strongly to the devotions of his workers that his campaign never did reach out to the non-involved and unexcited.

Nor does it work the other way around. The deeply committed given a campaign that extra zing that is sometimes known as the intensity factor. Some candidates can be readily identified with high intensity. Gene McCarthy, Barry Goldwater, George McGovern and George Wallace all have it. Why?

There are several ways for condidates to develop such commitment. A well articulated personal philosophy of government, strong and known positions on emotional issues and well structured organization at the grass roots can all provide it. Sometimes it is inherited or comes from family. Thus, Ted Kennedy claims the emotional devotion of millions for reasons not entirely related to his own accomplishments.

Campaign intensity is not limited to the denizens of the political right or left. Dwight Eisenhower led a crusade composed of an army from the center of the spectrum — his 1952 effort witnessed an extraordinary devotion of time and energy by the usually placid American center.

The value of the intense is, of course, to be found in work, money and cheering. The intense inhabit headquarters, lick stamps, ring door bells and swell the crowds at rallies. But they do something else. They support the candidate in time of adversity. The Goldwater legions lived through all kinds of foot in mouth, Nelson Rockefeller's devotees endured divorce and remarriage, and Ted Kennedy's followers stay with him despite protracted non-candidacy and Chappaquiddick. The candidate who is blessed with a high intensity factor (whatever its reason) can survive blows that would demolish a less fervently popular man.

The converse is also true. Fine candidates sometimes suddenly vanish — as though by magic — from trouble that seems trivial, or at least not fatal. These are usually men who have neglected their workers, and have failed to ignite passion (or even devoted interest) by their statements concerning issues or philosophy.

Sometimes the lack of intensity can have spectacular effect, and a front rank (and even front running) candidate will fall apart after stubbing his toe. George Romney was such a candiate. With an innocuous remark about brainwashing his 1968 campaign washed out in days. Over a year ago this column compared the Muskie campaign with the Romney effort and observed that Muskie could well drop from sight in the same manner if he continued to ignore the grass roots and failed to articulate strong issues positions and some kind of fundamental philosophy of government. Since that time Muskie has continuted to dally with the media and big names but never did get down to hard work and thought. His waffles didn't sell.

So when Muskie had bad press at the time of his emotional performance in New Hampshire there were not devoted zealots to hold him up. He is still going down and can only rescue himself by a rapid return to fundamentals.

Candidates pay too much attention to media and exposure. With the present emphasis on charisma there is a growing tendency for men to offer up little but themselves. Survival in the wild scramble of modern American politics requires more.

City Managers a Rare Breed

City managers are a rare breed. Like other people, no two of them are alike.

They have, possibly, one of the most insecure jobs around. One can look to numerous administrative changes over the years in several Peninsula cities to confirm this.

It makes one wonder whether the city manager form of government is working to best advantage.

Is the problem one of critera used to select city managers? Or is it a case of getting the best man then hamstringing him when running a taunt ship means rocking the boat.

Response from 1,477 councilmen in 276 cities and towns in the United States and Canada last year suggested that most councilmen would give their manager a high degree of freedom in carrying out administrative responsibilities and initiating programs.

This study (found in the July 1971 issue of American City Magazine) also offered some other interesting information, such as it appearing that most councilmen were looking for a "policy" manager, well versed in administration.

There was no indication in this study that Peninsula councilmen answered the questionaire.

According to the study, councilmen who preferred managers to consult with them on policy matters represented the smaller communities. (Are Peninsula cities "smaller communities?") They also were the councilmen with less than a year on the council, and ones who were elected on a partisan basis and had lower incomes.

On the other hand, Councilmen with higher education, under 50 years of age, with higher personal income, who have already selected two or more managers, and are elected in a non-partisan election, preferred a manager who seldom consults the council.

Using this critera, it would seem certain no Peninsula councilmen volunteered information to this study. Because few (if any) councilmen on this Peninsula give their city manager a free reign.

Interesting, too, is the ranking of the skills desired of a city manager. Supposelly, this is what councilmen look for when they hire a new man.

Topping the list is (get this) public relations skills. Of second most importance, according to this study, is the type of education the man has. Then comes finance skills, planning skills, the level of education and personnel skills.

THE NUMBER of years in municipal work is sixth on the list. After that comes history of previous termination. Incidentally, in the United States, councilmen said they would "favorably consider" hiring an applicant fired from a previous position. Canadians wouldn't.

The last two of the ten most important qualities are years in a responsible administrative position other than city management and number of years as a city manager.

So, if your city manager meets these qualifications, supposedly he's a good man. And needless to say, Peninsula city managers are good city managers. The question then becomes, is he allowed to utilize those talents without hinderance? If not, maybe you should talk to your councilmen.

A Move to Torpedo Force?

WE WERE TOLD LAST WEEK by a Colma man that the reason we wrote that article on Colma's proposed police reserve force was simply to torpedo it, that it was all due to a "personality clash" with police chief Raymond Ottoboni Jr.

Not true! We want to make that perfectly clear.

It is our cornball opinion that all citizens should know what is going on in THEIR city. They have the absolute right to know.

THE SAME CALLER said it was not fair to throw blanket charges at all five police reserve possibles because it had a "scattergun effect" and hit both those that had broken the law (albeit minor infractions) and those that had good backgrounds. We mused that around for awhile and decided perhaps the caller had a point.

TAKE MICHAEL CHARLES BELMESSIERI, one of the nominees. Belmessieri wants very badly to make law enforcement his career. He works for a security firm now and studies at City College at night. A Marine Corps veteran, the 24-year-old Belmessierei was involved in six minor traffic scrapes between October 1966 and the present, including three speeding citation, failure to yield right-of-way and modification of an auto exhaust system. In 1969 he was fined for buying alcoholic beverages and his license suspended for a year.

OR APPLICANT THOMAS PATRICK HARRINGTON, also 24, with eight adult violations ranging from failure to appear, unsafe changing of lanes, and speeding (three citations) to tampering with a motor vehicle (10852 VC) filed in 1968 when Mr. Harrington was considered a minor. (18-year-olds are now considered adults under state and federal law).

OR JOHN ANTHONY TOMASELLO, born on June 22, 1947. Of the six violations lodged against him since 1966, all are of a minor nature and include a minor in possession of alcohol, not stopping for a red light, littering, no license in possession and driving too slow. And they were all received when Tomasello was under 20 years old. Since 1967 the applicant has had no traffic citations.

OR JAMES HAROLD SUNIA, 23. On January 25, 1971 speeding; two months prior cited for driving down a freeway ramp exit; three days later cited for failure to obey a traffic control device; Mr. Sunia's traffic citations start on October 14, 1966 when, as a then-minor Sunia was nailed for speeding. Slightly more than a year later he was cited for drag racing. On August 5, 1969 speeding in a truck citation followed by a citation three weeks later for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

PAUL ALLEN BRUEMMER, 24, was cited only once in 1970 for speeding and GARY JOSEPH BERNARDINI, 21, was involved in a car accident in 1970.

THE ARGUMENT WHETHER any of this should have been brought out will undoubtedly continue to rage. However, these are the men who will be entrusted with the safekeeping of the city, the backup team for fulltime police officers on duty when a crime occurs. They will be armed and driving city-owned vehicles. The townspeople will be responsible for their every move, their every action, if, and when, the police reserve force under Chief Ottoboni is passed by the city council.

FLASHY FLASH U. R. (Jack) Kendree, formerly of the Doelger Corporation, will take over the helm of the Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association (WSIA) on April 17. Jack has already given notice to his current employer, Frank Pacelli, owner of Serramonte and Westlake Stationers.

SIGN OF THE TIMES — Spotted on a police chief's desk this week: No Arrest For The Wary.

BIG NEWS FOLDS — The California Barbed Wire Collectors Association ("Barbed wire tamed the west") will hold its quarterly meeting in King City on March 25 and 26. See all you Barb collectors there.

IN THE HEAT of politics silly things are said. Ferzample, South City school trustee Leo Eserini supporting John Bonalanza, incumbent city treasurer in SSF, offers a bet of $1,000 to Gordon Capurro "your man will lose." Capurro's "man" happens to be Hal Schette. Gentlemen, may I hold the wager? I didn't think so!

AND SPEAKING OF Bonalanza's supporters around the Industrial City. There's councilman Bill Borba's manufacturing plant with a nice Bonalanza sign affixed to it.

THE KIDS AT ROLLINGWOOD school in San Bruno have nicknamed a First National Bank employee, "The lady in red." (Shades of Senator Joe McCarthy). The Shadow knows her real name is Joanne Maldonado, and that she gave out some solar system maps to the class. On the day the kids visited the new bank on San Bruno Avenue she was wearing a red dress. (Now who says I don't write nice things about people?

REACTION DEPT. — D. C. Councilman Ton Giammona said he still supports the Westmoor Swimming Pool as long as it is in line with costs originally budgeted. But if the project runs over the roughly $400,000 price tag, forget it, says he.

PLEASE, LET'S BE SERIOUS — Frankly, we're tired of those Italian jokes. They are sensless and have no merit. Or do they? In Daly City the scavengers held their Christmas Party three days AFTER Christmas. And last week the same group threw their annual St. Patrick's Day bash three days BEFORE the noted holiday. Lord knows when they'll decide to celebrate the Fourth of July. Our guess is around Easter.

ON THE SUBJECT of scavengers, Joe Delucchi is back on the job after falling off his bulldozer down at the Mussel Rock dump site. He knocked his back out of joint and was laid up for several weeks. Inside Joke: Joe's the only guy in the world who tried to bribe a newspaperman with a couple of rocks.

Will '72 Be the Year Of the Consumer?

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, BBB Barometer

It looks as though the year 1972 Will be the Year of the Consumer.

The word "free" in advertising has been the source of abuse by many advertisers who recognize the motivation value of the word and use it in a manner that is actually deceptive and misleading.

Advertisers in the main fully disclose the conditions involved in order to get the "free" item and do not resort to marking up the merchandise to cover the cost of the free article. However, there are always merchants on the fringe of ethical advertising who make it rough for the ethical businessman.

Because of such unethical advertisers, new regulations were issued in 1971 by the Federal Trade Commission, to protect the consumer who is attracted by the "cents off," "introductory offer," and "economy size" promotions for nonfood products.

"Introductory offers" must be limited to new or significantly and substantially changed products . . . or one that is being introduced into a new geographic market area. In connection with the "introductory offer," the packager must clearly label the phrase . . . "cents off the after introductory offer price." The "introductory offer" price must be reduced by the amount stated, as compared to the regular selling price after the offer.

Additional provisions concerning "introductory offers" and "cents off sales" were issued in January by FTC. In a particular area, the packager cannot make more than three "cents off" sales for any single size product during 12 months. "Cents off" sales cannot account for more than 50 per cent of the packager's total sales for any single size product during 12 months. The packager must give the merchant a sign that clearly states his "regular price" which must be placed by the merchant close to the product during the promotion sales.

"Economy size" promotions can be made only if the packager uses only one such term implying it is the money-saving size. In other words, he cannot have an economy size, a budget size and a bargain size. Whichever the consumer uses, it must have a substantially reduced price per unit.

No "free" offer should be made and no representation may be made that the price is for one item and that the other is "free," unless the offerer expects, in good faith, to discontinue the offer after a limited time and to commence selling the product or service promoted, separately, at the same price at which it was promoted with a "free" offer. In other words, when the consumer is told that an article is "free," to him, if another is purchased, the term indicates he is paying nothing for that article and no more than the regular price for the other.

By "regular price" is meant the price in the same quantity, quality and with the same service at which the seller or advertiser has openly and actively sold the product or service in the area involved during the last 30 days.

'Medicine of The Mind'

"Music is the medicine of the mind," cried John Logan. It moves from city to city; country to country; knowing no patriotism and no creed. Observing this, Shakespeare wrote:

"Where gripping grief the heart doth wound,

And doleful dumps the mind oppress,

There music with his silver sound—

With speedy help doth redress"

Such thoughts introduce "America's Musical Heritage" which is a delightful phonograph recording of some of the music that came to America on the lips of 42,000,000 immigrants.

The album contains forty selections that were chosen to represent the folk and popular music of the vast number of people who built this "nation of immigrants." Here are such favorites as "Greensleeves," "Barbara Allen," "Comin' through the Rye," "The Volga Boatmen," and "La Cucaracha." But here also are some less known songs — among them "Plaisir Amour," "Villikens and His Dinah," and "Du, Du, Liegst Mer im Herzen."

Some of the selections were included to show that a great deal of the earliest music to take route, originated in the religious nature of the immigrants, many of them being people who came to find religious freedom. Other selections recall the homelands of the settlers and traditions that have been handed from father to son as part of their national way of life. Among such selections are "Loch Lomond," "O Sole Mio" and a series of Greek dances.

"America's Musical Heritage" does with sound something similiar to that accomplished with paper and print by the "Historical Atlas of Music." It is a book by Paul Collaer and Albert Vander Linden that is addressed to "all those who are curious about the evolution and the history of the art of music."

This book should interest every cultured person in the community. Its authors hold that music is the most subtle way of communicating. Therefore, he who would understand "the very soul of a people," must have an interest in their music from their oral traditions to the works of their most accomplished composers.

The authors write "Music has been associated with the life of man in the majority of its manifestations since the remotest times. It must therefore be considered as one of the branches of knowledge, ie, knowledge of man himself. For whoever understands the details of the elements of the musical language and has measured their power of action on the individual and on the mass, can claim 'tell me how you sing, and I will tell you who you are'."

"The Historical Atlas of Music" links the various schools and styles of music with colored maps showing the movements of music from country to country. There are also maps showing the principle music centers of the world, the homes of leading musicians, and the homes of music festivans and operas. Many pages of illustrations add to the usefulness of the book, "The Historical Atlas of Music."

Living One Day at Time

The problem of living one day at a time was explored by 26-year-old producer-playwright Bob Walter whose forays into academia gave him plenty of first hand experience. The result is a pop opera titled "Robin" set to open at Friends and Relations Theater on the Great Highway March 29.

A former teacher at Stanford University where the musical play had its tryout last summer, Walter formed and operated an experimental wing called the Beta Chi Community for the Performing Arts that caused consternation among the administrators and department heads.

So along with six Stanford dropouts, and the original director Richard Carp, the show will be brought to the public in a newly revised, rewritten format that involves 24 actors, seven musicians, 15 technicians to a total of 60 people directly involved with the show. Eleven of them have college degrees.

Described as the most comprehensive multi-media production ever to be mounted locally, the auditorium that recently played "Tommy" has been totally renovated, allowing for audience on bleachers three sides around. Forty-eight projectors, eight motion picture projectors, 26 microphones, three sound tracks and numerous special effects will focus on a 360 degree screen.

The extravaganza was financed originally for a quarter of a million dollars by the producers of "Applause" in anticipation of a New York opening but 19-year-old Bonnie Seaman who was to write the music became ill and the project had to be shelved.

Local backing of $100,000 was secured by Walter with a major portion put up by Dave Farrano's Entertainment Group Inc. who manage and run Winterland and sublet to Bill Graham for rock concerts. This group took a one year lease on the Friends Hall when the Orpheum proved too large for the show demanding a particular environment. They have rebuilt the hall into a theater adding new light booths, new ceiling, stage, box office and lobby.

The young people will produce under the name Alotavus Productions, Inc. (A-Lot-Of-Us) because of the large numbers involved. They call themselves a "community" and live together in several houses, working in shifts day and night. Each will receive $50 a week and split the profits.

The music was eventually a collaboration of five people, including Walter who wrote the lyrics for all but two songs. The others were by Mike and Jim Bacon who wrote melody lines; Becky Daniels, a singer from Stanford whom Walter found working in the micro-film lab; David Simmons, a 21-year-old from Southern California; Mike Lindemann who played the role of the Realist in the original Stanford production and Kenny Kollerer who was found playing his guitar on a park bench when the troupe began rehearsing in the outdoors.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Walter first conceived of the work as a poetic ritual intitled, "The Stainless Steel Tepee." He'd been a drop-out from Jesuit seminary, lived in Chicago and New York and received his degree in dramatic arts from Northwestern University.

He began writing the work in 1968 but got "deep off into experimental theater and the avante garde," which got him involved with the Cafe LaMama and Cafe Chino companies.

Court 'Spectator'

A Cheering Section?

Thomas Lee Harrison will think twice before he conducts a cheering section again in Judge Charles Becker's Northern District Municipal Court.

Harrison, 24, of San Francisco, was a spectator in Judge Becker's court in Daly City March 14 during a preliminary hearing on a criminal matter.

Sheriff's Deputy Phil McIntyre reported that when Judge Becker made a ruling following an objection registered by one of the attorneys involved in the case, Harrison responded from the spectaror section with an audible, "Boo."

McIntyre motioned Harrison to accompany him outside the courtroom and proceeded to warn him against any further outbreaks.

The deputy routinely asked for a check on Harrison through the Police Information Network and learned that a total of 22 traffic warrants were outstanding against the San Francisco man.

Harrison was taken to county jail in lieu of being able to post the $442 bail on the warrants.

Letters to The Editor

Editor, The Post:

We would like to suggest that people show their respect to others who have passed away by going to the cemeteries on Saturday, April 1, or Easter Sunday, April 2.

My family went to a cemetery last week and the graves and flowers there were only cold respect.

As you know, only one day, May 30, is set aside for the respect of those departed but a few more visits are more than needed.

MR. and MRS. LAWRENCE LARSON,
Daly City.

Signups for JUHSD Adult Classes

Jefferson Union High School District Division registration for all classes will continue on April the Easter holidays on a space-available basis.

At the present time some space for registrants remains in the English as a Second Language program for one to 20 students at Jefferson High School.

Space is also available in some home-making classes and industrial classes.

For adults pursuing skills school diploma, see a counselor at either Jefferson or Westmoor High School for direction as to which classes should be taken at this time.

The new occupations skills courses on food management and mechandising techiques are filling up rapidly and those adults interested in basic entry skills in either area should immediately register while space remains.

Registration in all other classes in the Education for Adults program will continue as long as space is available on a first-come, first-served basis.

The spring quarter will run for eleven weeks from March 20 through June 8 in all high schools of this district plus the Daly City Recreation Center and the Bayshore Housing Area. Classes will be suspended Easter Week, March 27 through March 30, and will resume again Monday, April 3.

Jeff Advisory Unit Meeting

The E.S.E.A. parent advisory committee meeting will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in Room 222 at Jefferson High School.

The staff has scheduled a simulated school day by reducing a regular class period to ten minute intervals so that parents may observe their child's school day.

Dave Peebles, program coordinator, will be assisted by consultant Jeannine Hodge in conducting small group discussion for parents to respond to their experiences.

In this manner, parents will be provided with a way to exchange their ideas with the teachers and advise the staff in areas of their concern regarding the education of their childrens' curriculum and classroom activity.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

This column is being written on a beautiful, sunny, hot day in March. Such a delightful day that thoughts of sitting in the sun, picnics and such keep coming to mind. However, by the time the column appears in The Post it may be a cool, foggy day in March

HOT POTATO SALAD WITH FRANKFURTERS

8 medium potatoes (5 cups diced)
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon celery seed
5 strips bacon
½ cup chopped onion
2 hard cooked eggs
½ cup vinegar
¼ cup water
8 frankfurters

Cook the eight potatoes in skins until tender; peel and dice. Place in large casserole, sprinkle a mixture of the one and one-half teaspoons salt, fourth teaspoon pepper, two teaspoons sugar and half teaspoon celery seed over potatoes.

Dice the five strips bacon and fry until crisp. Remove bacon and cook the half cup onion in bacon fat until tender. Remove onion and reserve bacon drippings. Set skillet to side.

Add the bacon, onions and one chopped hard cooked egg to potatoes, mix carefully. Add the half cup vinegar and fourth cup water to bacon fat in skillet and place over low flame, heat thoroughly. Pour hot liquid over potato mixture and reheat in moderate oven 8 to 10 minutes. Meanwhile cook wieners in simmering water.

Garnish potato salad with chopped parsley and sliced hard-cooked egg, arrange hot wieners on top. Pass the hotdogs, buns and mustard.

A delicious dessert with this or any other meal will be this Bake-Off prize winner.

LEMON CLOUD PIE

9-inch baked pastry shell

¼ to one-third cup lemon juice
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

In saucepan, combine three-fourths cup sugar, three tablespoons cornstarch, one cup water, one teaspoon lemon peel, one-third cup lemon juice and two slightly beaten egg yolks. Beat with rotary beater until well blended. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat. Add the three ounces cream cheese, stir until well blended. Cool while preparing meringue.

In small mixer bowl, beat the two egg whites at high speed until foamy. Add the fourth cup sugar gradually, continuing to beat until meringue stands in stiff, glossy peaks.

Fold into lemon mixture. Spoon into baked pie shell. Chill at least 2 hours before serving.

PASTRY SHELL

1 cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup shortening
3 to 4 tablespoons cold water

In mixing bowl combine the one cup flour and half teaspoon salt. Cut in the third cup shortening, using a pastry blender or two knives until mixture is the size of small peas. Sprinkle water over mixture, a tablespoon at a time, while tossing and stirring lightly with fork. Add water until dough is just moist enough to hold together. (If there's too much water, it will be sticky and tough; if there's too little water, the edges will crack, the pastry will tear easily and it will be hard to roll out.)

Form pastry into ball. Place on lightly floured surface. Flatten gently and then roll out to a circle one-inch larger than inverted 8 or 9-inch pie pan. Fold pastry in half, transfer to pie pan, unfold and fit loosely into pan, gently patting out any air pockets. Fold edges to make a standing rim; flute.

Prick bottom and sides generously with fork. Bake in 450-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes until golden brown. Cool.

Scott Beach in Westmoor Talk

KSFO personality Scott Beach recently spoke to Paul Zimmerman's English class at Westmoor High in Daly City.

Responsible for Beach's appearance was Janette Benson, a student at Westmoor. Having heard a poem written by him on the radio one night, she read it to Zimmerman, who suggested Beach might talk to the class.

The students heard about Beach's career and past life. He was an original member of the cast of The Committee, an impromptu theatrical group and has played a part of at the Rennaisance Pleasure Faire in Marin.

Westmoor Stage Band at Reno Jazz Festival

The Westmoor High School Stage Band attended the annual Reno Jazz Festival March 17 and 18.

This is the largest contest of its kind in the world, with over 200 groups competing. Westmoor has done well in past years, winning either first place or honorable mention in their division for six years straight.

In 1970 they were first runnerup for the Grand Trophy, the top award in the contest. If this is won three years straight it may be kept.

Each group gets 20 minutes on stage, competing schools of their own size.

The University of Nevada performed on playoff night along with Louis Belson, a featured pro, for enjoyment.

The Westmoor band has 20 pieces. Their big number will feature a solo by first trumpeter Rob Whiteman at least one number will be played that was written by Russ Golob and Rob Whiteman.

Crestmoor's Track Tactic Checkmates Cats

By RON REID

A coaching gambit worthy of Boris Spassky may dictate an intriguing endgame for the Mid Peninsula League track season this spring — hopefully with the same kind of excitement that marked its opening.

That was but one observation generated Thursday when the dual meet season got out of the blocks on three fronts and left the rest of the MPL schedule a tough act to follow.

The most competitive showdown of the afternoon occurred at San Bruno, where the Crestmoor Falcons survived repetitive gut-checks and the game opposition of the San Mateo Bearcats for a 70-66 victory that kept alive a two-year win streak.

The Falcons, who trailed 61-57 with three events left to contest, came back awesomely through the astute chess move of Coach Ron Etherton, who moved Bart Pierce out of his normal duties for a day-saving leadoff leg on the mile relay.

Pierce, one of the best hurdlers on the Peninsula, sat out the 120-yard highs as teammates Bill Weavers and Dave Robin ran 1-2 for eight Crestmoor points. More lethal for the rest, Bart then came back with a 52-flat relay leg that gave the Falcons a 10-yard lead they only improved upon in clocking 3:28.9 for five more points. Sparked by such momentum, the defending league champs then swept the triple jump behind Fred Geipel's 43-5 leap and got four more points out of the pole vault to sew it up.

In other duals, Aragon proved its contender status with a 79-57 triumph over Burlingame and Mills took Hillsdale, 78-56.

"That was the best move we made all day," Etherton said of his Pierce-ing shift. "If we hadn't had him for the mile relay, we would have been digging pretty deep for a fourth man."

While the Falcons lost the first running event of the afternoon when San Mateo beat them by one-tenth of a second in the 440 relay, Crestmoor out-scored its visitors 48-34 on the track to overcome a 22-32 deficit in field events.

The top Falcon performances of the meet included Pierce's 20.4 triumph in the low hurdles, a 10.6, 23.2 sprint double by Patelicio Kafoa (a torrid transfer from Tonga) and a 10:18 second-place by Ralph Mateo in the two mile which improved his lifetime best by 20 seconds.

San Mateo, which has probably lost weightman Dale Curry for the entire season through a knee injury, got its top performance from high jumper Bill Holly, who cleared six feet for an MPL best. The Bearcats also got a weight double from Rob Petersen, recently returned from a bout with tonsilitis, and a 4:41.5 mile from Bill Lindsell.

Aragon shot down Burlingame's hope with speed —taking 30 of the 37 sprint points available through the efforts of Erick Craig, Dave Matisi and the Popin brothers, Bill and Pete.

In a weird double that may be repeated often, Bill Popin won the 220 in 22.9 and took the shot put with a 51-9½ toss while the Panthers' Brett Johnson captured both hurdles in 15.3 and 20.2, respectively.

Mills outscored Hillsdale by 11 points both on the track and in the field as the Vikings prospered from the motivation of transfer student Roy Rose.

A Hillsdale sprinter a year ago, Rose helped beat his old mates by running to a 10.9 and 24.5 double. The Vikes' best performance was a 4:33.1 mile by Ian Burnett while Hillsdale's best was a hurdles double by Mike Lucas.

Next Thursday, San Mateo will play host to Aragon in a meet labled "must win" for the Bearcats while Crestmoor visits Cap and Burlingame takes on Hillsdale. Off the initial competition, it seems unlikely that any contending team will survive the dual meet season without tasting defeat at least once, which could make the MPL title meet a smasher.

Anyone for stalemate?

Westmoor Tops H.M.B.; Serra Drops a Toughie

Westmoor established itself as a challenger to South San Francisco's NPL track domination on Friday with a 102-33 victory over Half Moon Bay.

SSF, which had won the day before and was idle yesterday, figures Westmoor might even be a favorite this year.

In other NPL meets yesterday, El Camino edged Serramonte 70-64 and Oceana downed host Terra Nova, 72-64.

In West Catholic Athletic League action yesterday, Serra lost its opener to visiting St. Francis, 70-66.

Serra again got sterling performance from senior redhead Tom Banducci, who equalled his 57-7 best in the shot and tossed the discus 151-1, outdistancing decent fields in both events.

Serra's top half miler, Jack Wandro, turned in a 1:57.8 run but finished second by eight-tenths of a second. Wandro also anchored the Padre mile relay team, which lost a photo finish to the Lancers; both quartets were timed at 3:34.7.

Senior Jim Wyatt doubled for Westmoor in the 440 and the 180 low hurdles. Soph Jim Liston was second in the 880, a tenth of a second off the pace, with a 202.5 clocking. Another soph, John Wilson, won the two-mile.

Footballer Jeff Yerian won the 100 and 220, and placed second in the long jump.

Oceana took both relays and swept the 880; the mile relay was the deciding event of the meet.

Serramonte's Joel Martinello took both horizontal jumps, the long jump at 20-3 and the triple jump at 42-7½.

But El Camino mustered strength in the relays, the sprints and the jumps.

Hawks Lead Hunch Loop In Pacifica

The Pacifica Adult Basketball Hunch League finished out the third week of league play with the Hawks on top of the standings with a 3-0 record.

Pete Alexander and Gary Barton combined for 26 points, as the Celtics edged past the Runnerups, 41 - 37. Dean Richardson paced the Runnerups with 18 points.

Kerri's Coffee Shop rolled to victory number 2 as they stomped the Softoffs, 40-30. Gary Labelle and Ray Bracco went to the nets to score 16 and 14 points, respectively. Ron Ladrech led all scorers in the game with 25 points for the losers.

Bob McClure's 13 points led the way for the Hawks to record their third straight victory as the Hawks bypassed the Leftovers, 40-34. Harvey Joe went to the nets for 11 points in a losing effort for the Leftovers.

Sharks, Tigers Tied in NPL Swim

By JOHN GETTLE

North Peninsula League swimming is underway with Oceana and Terra Nova tied for first, South San Francisco a close second, and Jefferson and El Camino inhabiting the cellar.

Terra Nova defeated El Camino 59-27 on Friday, and Oceana edged host Jefferson 42-41 to open the NPL season.

Tera Nova's frosh-soph men annihilated El Camino 70-12, while promising Oceana whipped Jefferson, 52-36.

Host Terra Nova's varsity swimmers deflated El Camino's chances for a quick start by sweeping five individual events. The Tigers' Jim Auleb and Mike Neal were triple winners.

Neal took the 100 breaststrike and diving competition while Auleb won the 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly. Both swimmers were members of the winning 200 medley relay team.

El Camino's Bob Madrigal, also a triple winner, took the 200 and 400 freestyle events and was a member of the victorious 400 free relay team.

The Oceana-Jefferson clash went down to the wire, with the extra and winning point going to Oceana by way of a 400 freestyle relay victory.

Steve Goforth paced Oceana, placing second in the 200 and 440 free and also helping out on the deciding 400 freestyle relay team.

Jefferson's Gary MacArthur took the 200 and 400 frees.

South San Francsco, winner of six out of seven of last week's NPL relay events, drew a bye.

Next week SSF will face Terra Nova head-on in a battle that could well determine the out-comeof the league race. The two teams tied for first last year and are picked to go to the cellar. Oceana will have a bye.

THE POST'S SPORTS

Tigers Get a No-Hitter

Anyone with a severe ego problem could probably cure it by standing next to Terra Nova High pitcher John Racanelli at his next outing.

There will probably be so many scouts and assorted fans watching the Tiger flash that some of the admiration's got to rub off.

Racanelli did it again yesterday: pitched the first five innings of a 3-2 no-hit win over host Mills. In his five innings he struck out a mere 10 Vikings.

In other non-league prep baseball on March 14, El Camino lowered the boom on visiting San Mateo, 9-1, and Serra blanked visiting Westmoor, 3-0.

Racanelli got some help (he needed it?) from Darrell Zmerzlikar, who wasn't about to spoil the goose egg totals. He, too, pitched no-hit ball. Both Mills' runs were unearned.

The Tigers picked up two runs in the first on catcher Ron Mendez two-RBI single, and another in the fifth when Racanelli doubled, was sacrificed to third, and came in on a passed ball.

San Mateo just got pounded. Coach Ed Allemand was cheerfully philosophical. "No matter what kind of team they have, and no matter what kind of team we have, they always beat the stuffings out of us."

While San Mateo was leaving 13 men stranded (ironically, their one run was walked in), Colt batters were taking heavy depreciation on their bats. Bob Cleary was the chief culprit, going three for four (including a double and triple) and scoring three times.

Serra's Dave Montellato set Westmoor down on three hits.

The Padres' first two runs were unearned. Montellato drove one in on a squeeze play. Mike Busso drove in another with a double. Vince O'Leary scored two runs and was robbed once (a clear home run shot hit a tree, bounced down on the playing field, then over for a ground rule double).

Terra Nova, Mills Victorious

Terra Nova High's baseball team proved Thursday something probably a number of people were wondering about: it can win without the hurling services of John Racanelli.

Racanelli, the right-handed pitching sensation who owns almost all of TN's victories to this point, wasn't on the mound as the Tigers stomped visiting El Cerrito, 10-2. In another game yesterday, Mills beat Oceana, 3-1.

Sophomore Steve Shirley was the winner for Terra Nova, striking out four men and giving up just four hits in the same number of innings, while allowing no runs.

Lee Shackleford opened the scoring for the Tigers in the second inning with a solo homer. Terra Nova iced things in the third with a four run rally on six hits, including two doubles by Jeff Simons, who now has eight hits in his last nine trips.

Shackleford had three RBI's to lead the TN attack, while Simons, Mike Taylor, and Dave Beers all chipped in with two apiece.

Gus Profumo was the winner for the Vikings, picking up for starter Joe Romeo in the fourth.

Scott Ganas sparked a three-run Mills first inning rally with a sacrifice fly.

Knights Surprised

Hillsdale High's swim team snapped back from defeat Saturday, but not as far back as it thought.

The Knights had lost the opening MPL meet at San Mateo. Then, Saturday, Hillsdale far outdistanced the rest of the MPL in the SPAL's invitational relays at Sequoia.

They were announced as third-place winners and were leaving with a trophy when they were called back . . . a hasty recount showed that Woodside had taken third by a point.

The varsity scores were: Menlo-Atherton 37, Palo Alto 32, Woodside 25, Hillsdale 24, Gunn 22, Mills 15, San Carlos 14, San Mateo 11 and Carlmont 7.

Mills won the frosh-soph division with 31; San Carlos had 29, Aragon 27, Cubberley 24, Crestmoor 19, Jordan Junior High 12, Sequoia 7, Capuchino 5, Menlo-Atherton 5, Carlmont 4, Woodside 4 and Hillsdale 1 (most of the Knight underclassmen are swimming varsity).

Hillsdale Coach Joseph Prata explained that the loss to San Mateo was due in part to the Bearcats' odd-length (35-yard) pool, which messes up opponents.

Prata said that sophomore Hans Van Arkel was the outstanding swimmer of the meet.

The Knights won the varsity 200-yard freestyle relay (1:35.5), placed second in the 400 individual medley relay (4:12.7), third in the 500 stagger (4:53.8) and fourth in the all-events relay (where Van Arkel shone).

Soccer League Set on Coast

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department and Laguna Salada School District will co-sponsor a Soccer League for boys in the seventh and eighth grades.p The league will start on April 3.

Deadline for signing up on a team is March 27, with after school sports leaders.

Post Season Grid Scramble

During the last post-season football scramble — the bowl games, the All-This, All-That teams, the pro draft — we wondered exactly what the correlation was in quality between college seniors drafted by the pros and their All-American status.

Because any sort of statistical analysis of such a question tends to be exhaustive, we did what any other dedicated sports columnist would do — turn the problem over to his Research Assistant. So we dumped the whole thing into the lap of Steve Calais (which was a difficult feat in itself, considering he was standing up at the time), who also happens to be co-Sports Editor of the Terra Nova High School news magazine, Tiger Tales; host-moderator-originator-producer-director-writer-resident expert-(and occasional cameraman) of "Instant Replay," the most popular (and only) sports program on CableVision's Channel 8 (Pacifica); Tournament Director of The Troy-Tiger Tales Terra Nova One-On-One Tournament; San Mateo Times campus sports correspondent for its weekly newspapers; inventor of sports dice games; apple of his mother's eye; friend of the oppressed; daring of little old ladies and big young girls; and statistical fanatic.

We mention all of the above, plus the fact that he can read, print figures and add long columns of numbers, to assure the reader that Calais can be counted upon to produce thoughtful, accurate statistical analyses, especially when he is slipped a little green.

We told him that generally what we wanted was to know how many of the seniors ranked most highly by pro scouts made any sort of All American mention; and, conversely, how the All Americans were rated by pro scouts.

What we got back almost two weeks later was a lot more than we had asked for — 18 pages of notes which would make several columns if reproduced in detail, and many interesting sidelights which grew out of the basic study.

Calais' tools were this year's pro football draft list, the Consensus All America team (a "team" made up by one of the local dailies which yearly compiles a consensus of All American teams chosen by nine of the major newspapers, wire services, magazines, etc.), and a scouting rating system published last fall by the Sporting News, in which all possible college draftees were rated 1 through 4; a "1" draftee bearing an "immediate pro starter" label, a "4" being rated as "doubtful."

Following is only a small portion of Calais' findings:

Counting specialists, the pros gave only 13 men a 1-1.5 ranking. They were safety Tom Cassanova of LSU; cornerback Cliff Brooks, Tennessee State; Willie Hall, linebacker, USC; Riley Odoms, tight end, Houston; Franco Harris, fullback, Penn State; Walt Patulski, Notre Dame defensive end; Lionel Antoine, offensive tackle, Southern Illinois; Cliff Branch, wide receiver-kick return specialist, Colorado; Terry Beasley, wide receiver, Auburn; Bobby Moore, wide receiver, Oregon; Bill McClard, a place kicker from Arkansas; Chester Marcol, another place kicker, from Hillsdale; and Willie Buchanon, cornerback from San Diego State.

Three of those men — Brooks, Harris and Branch — got not so much as an honorable mention on any All American team in the country. Antoine made only one All American team. And Hall, Buchanon, Odoms and Moore were hardly unanimous picks.

A composite rating of all the All Americans gives them a score of 2.38. The draft choices had an average rating of 2.11.

According to the Sporting News' scouts' reports, and giving 11.5's three points, 2-2.5's two points and 3-3.5's one point, Calais figures the teams coming up with the top drafts were (in order and with rating points in parentheses): Dallas (22), Los Angeles (18), Philadelphia (18), Baltimore (17), Jets (17), Oakland (17), St. Louis (16), 49ers (16), New Orleans (15) and Detroit (15).

A rather strange thing happens, however, when one rates the teams' draft choices according to their "All American Points" (five points for a first team selection, two for a second team pick). Note that the composition of the top 10 drafting teams changes 50 per cent:

Atlanta (96), Cincinnati (94), Buffalo (85), Minnesota (80), New Orleans (73), 49ers (69), Oakland (58), Baltimore (56), Chicago (54), Jets (52).

Only five of the top 10 in All American points were among the top 10 in scout ratings. And neither of the top two teams in scout ratings — Dallas and Los Angeles — appear in the top 10 in All American ratings.

The top four in All American points scored in scout rating points as follows:

Atlanta (14), Buffalo (13), Cincinnati (12) and Minnesota (7).

That's about all that can practically be condensed. If nothing else came out of the study, it served to make Our Boy Calais an absolute expert on 1973's NFL rookies. He's asked us to announce that next week, after his personal trainer, Tom Knapp, has worked out the cramp in Calais' writing finger, that he will be available for consultation with NFL scouts, coaches, fans, or any girls who might happen to be interested in the 1972 NFL draft.

NOTES FROM SAN FRANCISCO STATE — Forget that eligibility beef with the NCAA, it couldn't wipe out an outstanding basketball season for San Francisco State's Gators. Head Coach Jerry Waugh — who, unfortunately, has resigned for a high school administrative post — registered the best SFSC record since 1954-55, as the Gators came up with an 18-7 over-all record . . . one of the best in the West and the best among the College Division NCAA teams in their district. In league play, they were 10-2, tying with Sacramento State for the championship. In '54 they were 20-6 overall, but only 17-6 in NCAA competition. Three of their 20 wins had been against non-college teams.

Forward Garry Bradford, 6-3 senior, repeated as an All Far Western Conference selection, and 5-10 guard Vance Devost, a junior, made it for the first time. On the second squad All-FWC team from State were guard Billy Metcalf, 5-11 junior, and forward Larry Taylor, a 6-4 senior.

All Ireland Wins Trophy In D.C. Soccer Tournament

The first soccer tournament in Daly City history was held on March 11 at Ben Franklin playground, jointly sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department and the Westlake International Soccer Club.

The Westlake Club appointed Tom Ricci as chief coordinator of the affair.

Participants in the tournament were boys under eight from the four teams who had just eneded play in the PAL winter soccer league also played at Franklin playground. It was All Ireland proving to be the strongest, winning their three games to take the trophy donated by the Westlake International Soccer Club.

With all four teams — All Ireland, Epiphany Grasshoppers, Epiphany Wasps, and Westlakers Civic Center 66ers — playing clean, but aggressive and interesting soccer, the assembled families and friends were well entertained and convinced of the boys progress since mid-January.

During the noon intermission the entire crowd — players, coaches, families and friends — had a picnic lunch squatted on playing field, benches and bleachers. This was the opportunity to get better acquainted and strengthen the friendly ties already established during league competition.

The local boys, most in their first year of soccer and guided by Ken Moorehead as game coach, played with ambition throughout the tournament.

They made All Ireland sweat in a 2-1 cliffhanger, beat the Wasps 1-0, and lost to the Grasshoppers when a high lob went under the bar completely out of reach of their excellent goalie.

For the Westlakers' goalie, Jason Bruni, and centerhalf Paul Abrahamsohn were the iron men; they played the entire three games.

The remainder of the team consisted of Joe Condon, Dave Dennis, Jim Moorehead, Craig Waisenburger — alternating at fullback; Danny Lewbin, Angelo Dapello, Tommy Beal, Francisco Romero as wing halfs; Francois Martin, Kurt Ricci, Forrest Gingold, Jeff Glosser, Mike Kennedy, Frank Willsey in forward positions. Mitch Rosetti and Ransom Massaglia — stalwarts in league play — were unable to play this occasion.

Westlake International Soccer Club will be entering another league, in addition to the P.A.L. Soccer League they are now participating in.

This new league is sponsored by FLAME — San Francisco Fire Department. Each team is sponsored locally. Under 12 "A" Team by Westlake Subdivision Improvement Association; Under 12 "B" by Conragan Associates-Realty, Daly City; Under 14 by A. G. Appliance, San Francisco.

The Westlake International Soccer Club has also entered the State Cup competition sponsored by California Youth Soccer Association. Under 12 "A" team will meet former state champion Dublin at Balboa Stadium, San Francisco, at 2 p.m. on March 11. Under 12 "B" team will meet Livermore Atomics past runner-up in state competition on March 5 at 1 p.m. at Lowell High School Soccer Field in San Francisco.

On April 1 an international youth soccer game between an under-18 team from Braunschweig, Germany, will play a select team from the Bay Area.

Games will be held at Balboa Soccer Stadium, San Francisco. For further information call 755-7443.

BOYS' SOCCER LEAGUE RESULTS

California State Elimination Cup, Boys 11-13, Westlake International Soccer Club 0, Dublin 2.

The Westlakers put up a stubborn, courageous defense against the smooth-passing and vastly more experienced team from the East Bay. Dublin spent most of the game trying to outwit the Westlakers close-knit defense. Their first score came early in the game on a miscue by the yet unsettled Westlake defense. Dublin then was held scoreless ntil midway through the second half when they beat goalie Chris Lonner from three yards out.

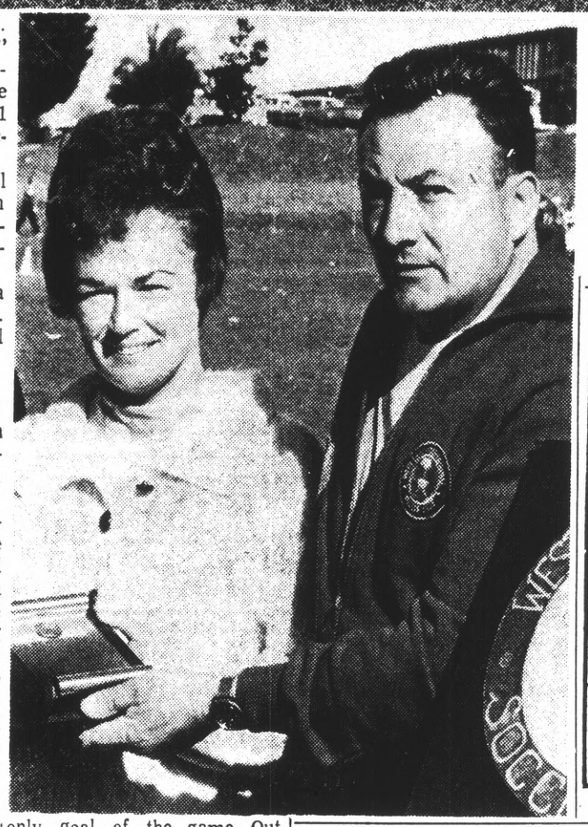
Westlake threatened several times as Louis Navarro in the center and Roland Quiros on the wing got past the Dublin fullbacks. Quiros had one great scoring chance but hesitated and Dublin regained the ball.

In an outstanding Westlakers defense Charles Lee and Tom Willsey continued their constantly more effective play. Halfbacks Gold and Rucker were always retrieving the ball and moving up midfield to bring their forwards back into play. Both teams excelled in fair play despite the intensity of the contest.

PAL League —Under 10: Westlake SC 1, Epiphany Devils 0.

Orlando Romero scored the only goal of the game. Outstanding in a good team effort by the Westlakers were Jim Kennedy on the right wing with good speed; Eddie Horn at right half-going from defense to offense as required. Julio Battaglini and Larry Hanson at fullback with effective tackling and good clearing kicks upfield. Westlakers MFK 0, Epiphany Angels 5.

The Westlakers were generally outplayed by the most powerful team in the league. However, George Condon in goal and Greg Anawalt at fullback gave their best to limit the Angels scoring. Greg Bolton at centerhalf and Chris Buckley in the forward line did well under pressure and played their style calmly.



MRS. BRIGITTA SPIRZ, left, is presented special award for service as secretary-treasurer of the Westlake International Soccer Club in 1971. Looking on is Michel Martin, president. Above are members of the Westlake Shopping Center's Under-10 team. Nine-year-old Teresa Abrahamson (lower left) is the only girl on the team.

PAL Tigers Win Central Division

Fourth Grade Scores and Highlights

The PAL Tigers chewed up the OLPH Hawks 19-16 to win the Central Division Title. Congratulations are in order for the team and their coaches Ron Kruger and Al Budish. Dean Rally played an excellent game as he pulled down numerous rebounds and kept stuffing the ball in the basket for the winners. Jim Pagan off-set Rally's presence for the losers as he again played brilliantly on both offense and defense. Steven Balestrieri scored 10 points for OLM after coming off the bench. In other games, the OLM Tigers defeated the PAL Serramonte Globetrotters 30-14. Mike Ryan for PAL scored all 14 points for the Globetrotters as he sparkled on offense. The OLPH Cardinals crushed the Holy Angels Gaels' last chance for a victory in the fourth grade Eastern Division.

Beth Israel Judea escaped a first half score to go on and defeat the OLM Hawks 22-14. After an early 8-6 Hawk lead, Beth Judea settled down and played their usual steady team game to defeat the determined club from OLM. Chris Eiserloh and Randy Layton once again were the key figures in the champs' victory. Eiserloh hit for 12 points and Layton hit 6 points and was a steadying factor in the tough Judea defense. "All-Star" Terry White led the Hawk cause with 10 points and Jack Cremen grabbed some key early game rebounds. Beth Israel must now face the AllStars from all the other league teams next Saturday, March 18 at the War Memorial Community Center.

Fifth Grade
Central Division

In the last Central Division game of the year, the OLM Colts defeated the OLPH Spartans 31-16. It was a case of a devastating full-court press that had the Spartans rattled the entire game. Doug Vivian led the Colt effort with 6 points and was helped along by Steve Fitzpatrick who led the full-court press. Ron Pacheco tallied 10 for the Spartans and Tom Baldwin grabbed numerous rebounds.

The OLPH Crusaders won their third consecutive Daly City League as they rolled over the Holy Angels Green Devils 42-10. Dave Howlett and Benji Parodi led the Cursaders on to victory as they notched the 6th grade league crown to go along with the previously won 4th and 5th grade crowns. Howlett scored 15 and Paroldi 13 as the Crusaders outshot a "game" Green Devil ball club. Joe Rushka tallied 7 for Holy Angels and Don Ciardella played good defense for the losers.

The PAL Warriors finished in second place only one game back as they defeated the AAA Crusaders 57-24. Dave Yohannan and John Cosmos led the charge for the Warriors with 10 and 6 points respectively. Sam Anagnosto and Mark Frietas put up a valiant effort but to no avail, with Anagnosto hitting 8 and Freitas 6.

NEW DEALER SAME OLD LINE

The VW line of cars has been around for some time. And they don't look now a lot different from the first two that were sold in 1949. Of course, there have been a lot of changes inside, about 2200, but only to improve things, not to make then look different.

That's why we're proud to now be representing VW in the San Mateo area. We've assumed that responsibility from the Rasmussen organization and are pledged to continue to uphold the VW reputation for selling a quality car at an economical price and providing the best of service for that car.

Our new management team is familiar with the VW, the VW organization and what every VW owner has a right to expect from an authorized dealership because most of them have been with VW for many years.

The dealership is new. Actual operation began August 1, 1971, with the latest technical facilities that are available. Like the VW Medi-Car unit that can diagnose any VW and spot little troubles before they become big ones. (New owners get four free checkups during the first two years.)

Our new car display line and inventory is complete. From the little bug to the big new VW. The one with 4 doors. And the used car inventory can fill almost any requirements. And most of them are guaranteed 100%. So our organization is as complete as we can make it. And our enthusiasm and pride is high. We think we'll be a good representative of VW.

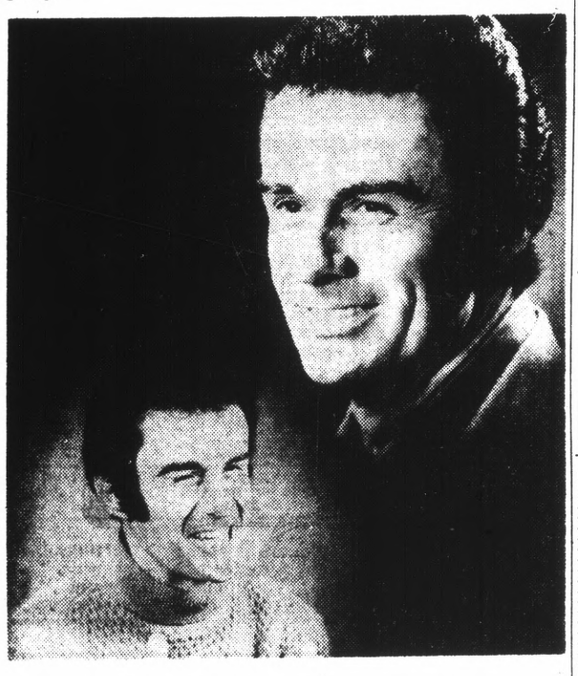
Don Regan At Piano Bar, Westlake Lounge

There's a new entertainer appearing at Daly City's Westlake Lounge. Don Regan is his name, and he will be presiding at the piano bar every Friday and Saturday nights. Regan is no stranger to show business, having appeared with many great band leaders in the past. There's a spacious dance floor here, so plan for some leg limbering . . . Cooks in Hot Pants is another eye catcher at the Blue Peacock in Millbrae. Yep, that's right. Owner Phyllis Alioto is now performing her chefing duties attired in Hot Pants. And this holds true for Mary, her assistant. No wonder the luncheon trade has almost doubled . . . It was "standing room only" last weekend at the Airport Plaza Hotel, in Millbrae, as The Cleveland Jones Trio continues to pack in huge crowds with their nightly nostalgia trip. You can bet this crowd pleaser will be booked solid for months to come . . . There's a lot of talk about Malkuth, the group currently appearing at The Aquarius in downtown San Mateo. This band is another discovery of owners Ben Muniz and Joe Borges. Several other local lounge operators have been dropping by to check out the group.



PLAYBOY CLUB FEATURE — Albert T. Berry, one of the best of the new breed of comics, is appearing at the San Francisco Playboy Club for a two-week engagement, along with vocalist Candy Graham. Berry, a native of Oakland, has played the major nightclubs across the country and has appeared on numerous television shows. The Al Plank Trio backs the show.

Dick Vartanian Combo Exposition Fish Grotto

The Exposition Fish Grotto on Fisherman's Wharf has inked an extended contract with the Dick Vartanian Combo appearing Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Popular Vern Alley, one of the greatest slap-bass artists in the country, is now a steady fixture in the group, with both he and Dick digging deep into Memory Lane, tossing out the goodies of yesteryear . . . The well-appointed House of Troy restaurant in Belmont, which is conveniently located to Circle Star Theater, is a favorite rendezvous spot of the musicians and performers after the show. Theater-goers find this intimate dinner house a pleasant place to meet friends and family for before and after-curtain-time cocktails . . . Everyone was aflutter a few days ago at the San Francisco Hilton Inn at the International Airport — the U.S. Olympic Ski Team overnighted en route from Portland to London. There they were, radiating health and confidence: Hank Tauber, Hans Peter Rohn, Mike Rafferty, Dave Currier, Don Rowles, Ron Sargent, Marilyn Cochran, Sue Corroch, Patty Boydston, Sandra Poulsen, Steve Lathrop and Terry Palmer. On hand to greet them on behalf of the Hilton Inn was Sales Manager Dan Reichartz.

Sammy's Kitchen New To Burlingame

Burlingame Avenue has an excellent new restaurant which specializes in Chinese and American food. Owned by Sam Van, and appropriately called Sammy's Kitchen, this is a "must" for Peninsulans who insist upon quality food. Sammy is an experienced restaurateur, having been in charge of a major resort hotel in Hawaii for many years. His brother Robert is chef. A special family dinner is featured every day of the week . . . We consider each customer a personal guest," says Lucien Sabella, owner-host of A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf, "whose patronage is most sincerely appreciated." And he does his utmost to merit this policy. As you dine in this relaxed atmosphere you can drink in a picturesque view of the San Francisco Bay . . . Day after day, few restaurants host more groups, banquets and business meetings than Dave Rasmussen's Shadows of San Mateo—and the reason is quite obvious. The Shadows' handsome Banque Room is in a class by itself. Would you believe that General Manager George McCaman has already booked several Christmas parties?

Nino's Features Variety Of Dinners

One of the newest restaurants on the dine-out scene is Nino's, located on West Forty-second Avenue. Owned by Tony Mongiovi, who also does the chefing, this San Mateo restaurant specializes in pizza and a variety of Italian dishes. Lunches, including many sandwiches, are served daily; dinners Tuesdays through Sundays . . . Uncommon mixed drinks hold no fear for nighttime fizzer Jack MacRae at L'Auberge in Atherton. He has the steady eye of a chemist and the memory for ingredients required. The bar is unusually well stocked with 30 kinds of scotches and rare brandies, liqueurs and cordials . . . George Chow is the guiding genius of the Golden Pavilion restaurants, El Camino Real and Los Altos Avenue, Los Altos, and Sacramento and Grant Avenue, San Francisco, which have won recommendations by Holiday Magazine. Serving the "Six Classic Chinese Cuisines," both restaurants are open seven days for dinner (luncheons and dinners served in San Francisco restaurant). Banquet facilities . . . Enjoy a superb Prime Rib dinner, with unusual Anna Potatoes at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto. Then linger at the bar with a Cappuccino L'Amour, made from the espresso machine, and listen to the songs and guitar of Ross MacKay. He's a charmer who answers your musical requests and adds to the fun.

Red Fox Lounge For Name Entertainment

Brotherhood, a fine-sounding four-piece band, heads up the entertainment in the Red Fox Lounge of Holiday Inn, in Belmont. This is the same group that drew record crowds to the Airport Plaza in Millbrae, and the fans are beating a path to the Red Fox Lounge. Their gig here will be brief — performing through Saturday night, March 25 . . . Hundreds of admirers of hearty Italian cuisine and sea food regularly dine at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. The colorful menu describes pasta, casseroles and meat specialities. There are all the classic spaghetti dishes, with meat balls, crab, etc., and the fish variety is endless. As for dessert, cheese cake of many flavors is served in individual crocks, and for something different you might try the Zabaione (Italian Wine Custard) . . . Dinners at Scotty Campbell's, Redwood City, attract a cross-section of all who search for good food. Out-of-towners respond warmly to the charm and cuisine, and readily understand why Peninsulans regard this as one of their favorite restaurants. It isn't unusual to see celebrities of the theater and screen dining here. Among those to sign the guestbook recently was Sammy Davis Jr., whose party of 14 enjoyed a late supper after his performance at the Circle Star Theater. Scotty Campbell's is one of those warm, genial eating places.

RETURNS TO PENINSULA — Dionne Warwicke returns to the Circle Star Theater, where she is scheduled for eight performances through March 26. The much-loved singing star is pictured here with Sammy Davis Sr. and Chung Peng, co-owner of the Mandarin Star and Mandarin House restaurants, where they dined sumptuously on delicate Mandarin-style dishes during her successful stint in San Carlos last year.

Finocchio's Attracts The Hollywood Set

Singer Ann Weldon, who is in the Bay Area to make a film, was among the celebrity ringsiders recently at Finocchio's, a San Francisco club featuring female impersonators. Joel Nobel, choreographer of the Finocchio revues, is one of those with a lead in the picture . . . When Enrico Romano walks into the kitchen of Romano's Italian restaurant, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, each day, there lies before him several hours of intense preparatory work. Enrico is instrumental in not only Italian sauces but the ingredients of his mouth-watering pizzas, which are served on the premises or can be ordered to take out . . . Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district, has already been acclaimed one of San Francisco's handsomest restaurants. But owner Lew Lehr isn't the type to rest on past laurels, so he just installed magnificent new wooden doors, and then popped for a beautiful new exterior paint job to set them off . . . Frank and Fannie Torres, who own and operate Torre's Beach restaurant in Montana (just south of Devil's Slide on Coast Highway One), invite one and all to come over and partake of their delicious South American specialties of the house.

Andy Russell Stars At Miyako Hotel

One of showbiz' great singing stars, Andy Russell, is appearing three times nightly, except Sunday and Monday, in the Garden Bar of the Miyako Hotel, San Francisco Japan Center. Russell, Latin America's best loved male vocalist, includes such hits as "Amor" and "Besame Mucho" with his current tunes of "Hey Jude" and "Spinning Wheel" . . . The Holiday Inn, South San Francisco, seems to be pointed out as the "place for wedding receptions." For several weekends in a row, huge receptions have taken place here. For information regarding their excellent facilities, contact Claude Schroeder, Food and Beverage Director of this bustling complex . . . There's a new menu at The Red Cottage, a splendid restaurant in Menlo Park. Very few items from the previous menu are listed, and it is laid out differently There are special categories and chef's specials. Try Chef Billy Valle's Cannelloni, a dish he relishes preparing . . . It won't be long before Candlestick Park is stirring with activity, and Joe Ercoli reminds Giants fans that reservations should be made well in advance at his Leaning Tower restaurant for the opening week of baseball season. A special feature at this South San Francisco restaurant throughout the baseball season is the Giant New York Steak.

Chicken Unlimited Aptly Named

Ed Chalkagian and his friendly Chicken Unlimited staff seem to have an endless supply of fresh, fried chicken, and they are certainly doing their best to blanket the area. Whether it's a four-piece dinner for one, or a large order for more than 100 persons, this competent crew can handle it. You will also find a variety of other appetizing items on the menu board above the counter. Whamburgers, fish, shrimp and hot dogs are all available for eat in or take out. Give yourself a treat — enjoy the solid gold success of a meal at Chicken Unlimited on South B Street in San Mateo . . . With Spring weather already arriving on the Peninsula, you can bet that plenty of the same is being enjoyed by residents in the High Sierra. At least, that was the report last week in the Reno and Lake Tahoe areas. If you're headed for a brief mini-vacation in either of these places, suggest you contact one of the Park Avenue Tours offices in the Bay Area. Not only are you assured of a few happy days away from the daily grind, but you'll be doing it as inexpensively as possible . . . Those visiting the New Southern restaurant in South San Francisco are invited to relax in the plush cocktail lounge and think back to the days when steamboats were the only way to travel the Mississippi. The food here has been described as the finest southern cooking outside of the Mason-Dixon Line.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE McALLISTER

Congratulations to the Jeff Marching Band!

On April 15 they will represent Jefferson High School in the Davis Picnic Day Parade. The group in order to qualify for the parade, they had to try out in front of a judge who evaluated them on marching and playing skills. Mr. Richard Larsen, band director, and Jesse Alvarado, drum major, put the band through a series of extensive practice sessions in order to have them ready for the tryouts.

At the parade, the band will compete against others which have passed the same obstacle for first, second or third places.

A new program of dances at lunch time has been started by newly elected Commissioner of Entertainment Elsie Pinnace. Elsie has initiated this program using her power to acquire: 1. a room, 2. a record player, and, 3. records. All Jeff students are invited to the dances running from 12:15 to 12:45 in Room C provided they bring no food with them into the dance area.

The Model U.N. Club had a relatively successful year this year at the annual conference at the U.C. Berkeley campus.

The group, participating along with other Jefferson High School District Schools, was the only district school to have a resolution accepted in the preliminary selection. To get a resolution accepted one must submit the finished proposal or solution to a problem written in a certain form along with resolutions from approximately 100 other high schools.

This year the special political committee accepted the resolution written by Delegate Margine Sako and her committee member Mark Molina.

This resolution concerned accusations of certain countries of committing aparthied. Since Jeff was Portugal who has been condemmened for their actions in colonies in Africa the resolution expressed the opinion that no injustices have been committed different from any other resolution accepted.

The resolution did not get past the committee stage.

Jeff has a new addition to the campus — a bike rack.

Terra Nova Topics

Warm, sunny days, gentle ocean breezes, and cool, billowing grass have always been tempting images that entice people to forget routine and responsibility and "escape" into more pleasurable passtimes.

On days like these, the student body class cut rates have been known to increase, and quite understandably. For seniors who happen to be going through the melancholy phase known as the "Senior Blues," the desire to escape from school is almost inevitable.

What is the Senior Blues? It's a restless time, a time of discontentment and boredom with the familiar, everyday routine that makes you want to search for new situations and new acquaintances.

It's seeing freshmen in the hallways and feeling hopelessly older and wiser.

It's knowing all of the school rules and regulations, and knowing all the loopholes and methods to get around them.

The Senior Blues is wanting to get away for awhile to discover yourself, and reality; and frustration in not being able to.

It's waiting impatiently for graduation and a glorious, endless summer, and getting angry with everyone because you know you have to work all summer in order to earn money for college.

The Senior Blues time is a sorting out time for thoughts and ideals and attitudes, and a searching time in which you set your future goals and prepare yourself for the game called Life.

The Senior Blues is realizing the beginning of new and greater responsibilities.

So readers, the next time you see a senior sitting on the grass, or on the beach, or walking down a street on a sunny weekday between the hours of 8 and 3 p.m. be kind. He's probably got the Senior Blues.

Panamanian Visitor In Daring Rescue

A 31-year-old visiting Panamanian is credited with saving the life of a 16-year-old Oakland youth Wednesday who was floundering in strong ocean currents off Pacifica's Rockaway Beach.

Pacifica Police Officer Ron Ho said he is recommending a citizen's award for heroism to Hector Sanchez, who is staying at 1075 Manzanita. Police said he will only be visiting Pacifica for one more week.

The youth, Kenneth Clark, was taken to Mary's Help Hospital where he was treated for exposure and sent home. He had come to the beach to swim with numerous friends, police said.

Police said they received a call on a rescue at the beach near Nick's Restaurant at about 1:30 p.m. The city's fire department rescue unit also responded. A Coast Guard helicopter was initially asked for, but cancelled, police said.

According to reports, Sanchez was at the beach when he saw that Clark was in trouble. Sanchez, who officials said has been a lifeguard in Panama, swam out to hold Clark up.

He was about 600 feet from shore when fireman Michael Johnson, equipped with a life jacket, hit the surf, and helped the other two to shore.

Firemen said "it's quite possible that Sanchez' action did save the life of Clark. According to authorities, both were weary from the swim, but Clark "had no energy left in him."

Police said Sanchez is working on a master's degree at the University of Northern Colorado and just stopped at Pacifica for a brief visit.

Chest X Rays Offered

Public chest X-rays and breathing tests will be offered today in Pacifica by the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of San Mateo County.

The Christmas Seal agency's mobile unit will be operating at Linda Mar shopping center from noon to 2 p.m. and 3 to 6 p.m. both days. No advance appointment is needed; anyone 18 years of age or older is eligible.

The service is designed to give early warning of emphysema, lung cancer, TB and enlarged heart. A $1 service fee to help cover the costs is requested for the X-ray; a $2 service fee for the breathing test.

New Bruno Librarian

San Bruno City Manager Gerald Minford last week announced appointment of Mrs. Joan Nelson of Downey as San Bruno's new city librarian.

Mrs. Nelson will assume her new position on April 10.

She has four sons, 15 to 28 years of age. She received her bachelor's degree in American Studies at California State College at Los Angeles, and her master's degree in library science at the University of Southern California in 1966. She went to work at the Whittier Library and has been employed as Downey Librarian since 1968.

She is active in her professional organizations as well as the American Association of University Women.

The city has been without a city librarian since retirement of Miss Thelma Passe last year.
